JUDGE APPROVES ICC PLAN FOR MISSOURI PACIFIC REORGANIZATION

Program for Railroad Would Wipe Out Common Stock Holdings, Give Recognition to Preferred Holders.

The Interstate Commerce Commission plan for reorganization of the bankrupt Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., which would wipe out common stock holdings while giving recognition to the preferred holders, was approved today by United States District Judge George H. Moore.

The third plan to come before the courts in the 17-year history of the road's bankruptcy was approved without change by Judge Moore, who ordered attorneys to prepare a decree putting the order into effect. All objections and all claims were ordered denied.

In a 35-page memorandum, the judge discussed the evidence before the court and reached the conclusion that the plan "is fair and equitable, affords due recognition to the rights of each class of creditors and stockholders, does not discriminate unfairly in favor of any class of creditors and stockholders and conforms to the requirement of the law . . . regarding the participation of the various classes of creditors and stockholders."

Common Stock Ruling.

Referring to the common stock interests, the opinion stated: "The Commission's findings of 'no value' for the interest of the holders of the common stock of the Missouri Pacific and the unsecured creditors and stockholders of the I.G.N. (International Great Northern) have been affirmed above."

The largest holder of common stock of the Missouri Pacific at last reports was Robert R. Young's Alleghany Corporation. Under the plan, preferred stockholders were given the right to exchange their shares for Class C commoon on a basis of three shares of new common for each seven shares of preferred.

Capitalization under the new plan was fixed at slightly less than $112,000,000. A number of objectors had urged a higher capitalization to permit some participation of common stockholders and a larger share for the preferred holders. It was argued the increased earnings and prospects for the railroad justified a higher total capitalization.

1949 Records Examined.

Judge Moore noted he had examined the income accounts and balance sheets for 1949 of all the debtors involved. He said he had also considered the available information on the operations of these roads for the first six months of 1950. "The revenues and earnings in these periods do not indicate that the plan is outmoded or pessimistic," he said.

"Nor does it seem that the Korean situation has at this time caused any substantial change in the facts on which the court has relied. . . . The plan will be approved and an order overruling all objections, denying all claims for equitable treatment and approving the plan may be submitted."

The effective date of the plan is Jan. 1, 1948. This would presumably be the date from which interest on new fixed debt obligations would accrue.

$3817 PAID IN AUTO FINES IN FIRST WEEK UNDER NEW SYSTEM

Collections of fines by the Police Traffic Bureau under the new "triplicate ticket" system last week totaled $3817, four times the amount taken in in any previous week in the bureau's history, Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell announced yesterday.

The system, which makes parking tickets harder to "fix" and easier to pay, went into operation July 8 but last week was the first to reflect full operation, since violators have five days to pay fines.

Tickets are issued in triplicate, one copy being retained by the arresting officer, one going to the comptroller and the third being handed to the violator or stuck on his windshield. The motorist can mail in the $2 fine within five days. If he fails, he gets a warning and another five days and after that is subpenaed into police court.

WOMAN CATCHES HUSBAND FALLING FROM THIRD FLOOR

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Mrs. Rose Lazzeri was sweeping a concrete courtyard beneath a window of her home yesterday when she heard her 12-year-old daughter scream.

She looked up and saw her husband, Alfredo, hanging from a third floor window by his finger nails. He became dizzy while sitting in the window to cool off. As his wife gasped, he fell.

She ran to the spot and reached it just as his body hit a clothes line and flipped off.

She caught him in her arms and they both tumbled to the pavement—unharmed

Lazzeri, 42 years old, weighs 125 pounds. His wife, 38, weighs 115.

JEALOUS GIRL, 8, TELLS OF DROWNING HER HALF-BROTHER

MILWAUKEE, July 29 (AP)—An 8-year-old girl quietly told police yesterday that she killed her 10-months-old half-brother almost two years ago by holding his head in a tub of water.

"I was jealous," the little girl replied matter-of-factly when asked if she was sorry.

Police said the girl confessed also that she tried to injure another 10-months old half-brother and drown a 3 and one-half-year-old boy cousin recently.

"I hate them. My mother paid too much attention to them," she told Acting Detective Capt. Charles Nowakowski.

WRECKING OF 14 OLD VANDEVENTER PLACE MANSIONS TO START

Wrecking of the 14 old mansions in Vandeventer place between Spring avenue and Grand boulevard, to make way for the new Veterans' Hospital to be built on the site, will begin Wednesday, Harry Hochman, president of Aalco Wrecking Co., announced today.

The wrecking job, which has been subcontracted by Aalco, is expected to take about six months, Hochman said, but construction is expected to start as soon as the first buildings at the east end of the former private place are removed.

LOOT IN $25,000 BANK HOLDUP RECOVERED IN 15 MINUTES

Police Swiftly Capture Two Men After West Virginia Robbery.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 29 (AP)—Two masked men robbed the First National Bank in nearby Kenova of an estimated $25,000 at 11:40 a.m. today, but the loot was swiftly recovered.

Within 15 minutes police had arrested two men in a station wagon near the Huntington city limits. The money was recovered.

Police identified the men as Edgar Allen Moore, 24 years old, of Ashland, Ky., a Marshall College student, and Peter John Mayer, 26, of Detroit. He said they had two pistols but did not resist police.

The bank was filled with patrons when two men entered from a station wagon parked in front. Mrs. Louise Lemons, a bookkeeper, said one remained at the door while the other strode into the lobby and called out: "This is a stickup." Customers were forced to lie on the floor. The second man walked behind tellers' cages and stuffed bills into a sack.

Kenova police, quickly notified, radioed to authorities in Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio. A West Huntington police detail stopped the station wagon and arrested the two suspects.

BARUCH CONTROLS ADVOCATES WIN TACTICAL POINT BY DELAYING VOTE

Senate Banking Committee Puts Off Action Till More Drastic Proposal Can Be Put Into Form of Bill.

By RAYMOND J. BLAIR

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright, 1950.

WASHINGTON, July 29—Proponents of the Baruch plan for price-rent-wage controls and rationing won a tactical victory yesterday when the Senate Banking Committee postponed further action on control legislation until Monday so the Baruch plan can be put into legislative form.

The committee is considering the "Defense Production Act of 1950," submitted by the Truman administration to deal with the Korean crisis. It would give the Government allocation, priority and requisitioning power, stimulate war production through loans and control credit and speculation.

The committee acted after Senator Maybank (Dem.), South Carolina, its chairman, talked by telephone with Bernard M. Baruch, author of the plan. Senator Maybank quoted the elder statesman as advocating prompt enactment of the administration bill with the addition of discretionary standby power for the President to invoke price, rent, wage controls and rationing.

Baruch for Controls Now.

Baruch later said in New York that this did not mean he was in any way relaxing his position. In testifying before the Senate committee Wednesday, Baruch had indicated he favored immediate enactment of the controls, rather than on a standby basis.

The administration bill contains no price, wage or rent controls or consumer rationing powers, and President Truman said Thursday he thought these restrictions were unnecessary now. Truman has said, however, that he will not hesitate to ask for this power if scare buying and hoarding continue.

(However, one Capitol official who usually is in touch with the White House told an Associated Press reporter the President would be glad to get the added (Baruch) controls on a stand-by basis. Truman's council of economic advisers is reported to feel that the current nation-wide wave of buying is a "speculative flurry" which will die down without the need for drastic action.)

The Administration plan was approved by the House Banking Committee Thursday, 20 to 1, but the tougher proposals advocated Wednesday by Baruch are gaining formidable support in both House and Senate.

Even Chance for Adoption.

Administration leaders think there is an even chance they may be adopted when both houses begin voting on the legislation next week.

In the House, support for consumer price controls and rationing was so strong that leaders were reported concerned over their chances to sidetrack Baruch's proposals in favor of action on Truman's milder requests.

Chairman Maybank had planned a Senate committee meeting today to rush consideration of the Truman bill.

But he was overruled, 4 to 2, on a motion by Senator Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, who said he wanted a weekend recess so he could put Baruch's ideas into the form of a bill. He said he would offer it in committee Monday, either as a complete substitute for the President's proposals or as an addition.

Sparkman said he favored the price rollback to about June 25, date of the start of Korean fighting, advocated by Baruch. But he said he had not decided whether his amendment would propose immediate mandatory or standby controls.

Sparkman said "Congress is terribly blind if it does not do a complete job on mobilization and controls."

G.O.P. Aid for Sparkman.

Sparkman, with the help of three Republican Senators, Capehart of Indiana, Bricker of Ohio and Ives of New York, obtained

LEAFLETS OUTLINE BENEFITS OF NEW CHARTER, ANSWER FOES' OBJECTIONS

Being Distributed From Door to Door by Citizens' Committee—Tax Charges Are Specifically Denied.

Door-to-door distribution of a leaflet outlining the advantages of the proposed new city charter and answering objections of its opponents was begun today by the Citizens' Committee for the New Charter.

The charter will be submitted to the voters at the primary election next Tuesday.

One side of the leaflet carries representative news stories on the charter from the city's three daily newspapers while the reverse side includes news stories and editorials denying anti-charter contentions that adoption of the charter would mean a rise in taxes.

Specifically, the leaflet contends the charter would not levy a sales tax, an earnings tax or an income tax as certain opponents have charged.

200,000 to Be Put Out.

Former Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann and H. Sam Priest, co-chairmen of the Citizens' Committee, said 200,000 of the leaflets would be distributed in the city by Monday. They again urged all St. Louisans to take the few minutes necessary to cast a ballot Tuesday.

The committee turned its attention to throw-sheets and paid advertisements by anti-charter forces which charge that higher taxes will follow adoption of the charter and that too much authority is concentrated in the Mayor without retaining the comptroller and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment as checks on his fiscal powers.

Asserting the anti-charter statements were a "smoke screen" for politicians who are seeking bigger game, the committee said:

"They are using the spurious and thoroughly discredited tax issue actually to cover up the fact that the new charter provides for an extension of civil service to the offices of license collector, collector of revenue, treasurer and comptroller. These offices would be consolidated into a new Department of Finance. They know that heads of the various divisions under the new charter would become civil service employes and thus no longer political appointees or subject to political domination."

Control of Purse Strings.

The committee also said there was opposition by the politicians to the provisions of the new charter which would provide tighter control of the city's purse strings and make easier the recall of public officials who do not do their duty in office.

"Politicians do not like the idea," the committee statement continued, "that under the new charter it would be virtually impossible for the Board of Aldermen to pass any 'emergency' bills which can escape a referendum or vote by the people. In other words, the people would assume much greater control of their own government and the politicians do not like that."

It was pointed out by the committee that practically all of the tax provisions of the new charter have been lifted from the old charter and actually remain unchanged except that businesses which have come into being during the last 36 years would be added to those on which the Board of Aldermen now may levy a license tax.

Discrimination Avoided.

To leave some businesses potentially liable to a license tax and to leave another large group free of this possibility would be manifestly unfair and discriminatory the committee said.

The committee said the earnings tax provision was an exception to its statement that the tax provisions of the charter are all 36 years old.

"At the present time, there is no limit to the size of the earnings tax which could be levied through the State Legislature and the Board of Aldermen," the committee said. "The section of the new charter would limit any tax of this kind to not more than 1 per cent. This is a strong argument for adoption of the charter."

Members of the AFL Steamfitters' Union, Local 562, have voted to take a holiday Tuesday and work against the charter.

2 SENATORS CALL ON U.S. TO BLOCK ANY U.N. MOVE TO SEAT CHINA REDS

George and Smith, Both on Foreign Relations Committee, Favor Use of Veto in Council if Necessary.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee demanded today that the United States block any move to admit Chinese Communists to the United Nations, by use of the veto, if necessary.

Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, told a reporter that with American troops fighting Communists in Korea he doesn't think this country can afford to withhold its Security Council veto if that is the only way to bar the Chinese Communists.

In a separate interview, Senator Smith (Rep.), New Jersey, called on Secretary of State Dean Acheson to make it clear at once that the United States will use every means at its command to keep the Chinese Communists out of the U.N.

Use of Veto Not Planned.

The State Department has taken the position that it would be unwise at this time for the U.N. to consider the question of admitting the Mao Tse-tung government's representatives. But it has said the United States would not exercise the veto if such a showdown came.

This seemed to leave the American representatives free to maneuver actively to prevent the question's arising, as it may when Jacob A. Malik, the Soviet representative, takes over as chairman of the Security Council for August and thus ends his walkout from that body.

But this apparently wasn't a strong enough position for George and Smith.

George said he expects Malik to attempt to use his chairmanship as a sounding board to try to undermine the American position in the Far East.

"The whole theory under which we are proceeding in Korea is based on the contention that the North Korean attack is Communist-inspired and is in clear violation of the United Nations charter," the Georgia Senator said.

Opposes New Prestige for Reds.

"Under those circumstances, I don't think we could afford to take any action that would give new prestige to Communists anywhere and we would have to exercise the veto, if it comes to that point."

Smith said he believes that until Russia agrees not to employ the U.N. veto, this country can't bind itself in advance on a major question.

"The President has ordered the fleet to defend the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa," he said. "We recognize the Nationalist Government as the representative of the Chinese people.

"It wouldn't make sense to defend that Government with our fighting forces, then permit a rival government to be recognized by the United Nations. It would complicate terribly our position in Formosa."

ANOTHER RUSSIAN WALKOUT FORESEEN

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, July 29 (UP)—Foreign observers said today Russia may walk out of the United Nations Security Council again if the Council refuses to seat Communist China.

(Formosa press reports published in Hong Kong said the Chinese Nationalist Government has instructed its delegate, T. F. Tsiang, to use the veto if the Soviet bloc tries to oust him from the Security Council.)

These observers believed Russia will maintain its position that the Korean problem can be settled in the Security Council only with the participation of the Soviet Union and the Peiping government.

Resumed Boycott Expected.

If the other members refuse to accept this thesis, diplomatic circles believe Soviet delegates will persist in their refusal to attend any U.N. meetings in which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists represent China.

The Soviet press reported today without comment for the first time that Russia's Jacob A. Malik will assume the chairmanship of the Security Council on Tuesday.

MARINE RESERVE BATTALION GOES ON ACTIVE DUTY

More Than 750 Mobilized at Roll Call — Area Jammed as Families Witness Ceremonies.

The Third Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve — more than 750 strong—went on active duty today in the first major mobilization of a St. Louis reserve unit since the start of the Korean war.

Meanwhile, "some units" of the Missouri National Guard were ordered to active duty, a spokesman for Gov. Forrest Smith reported from Jefferson City. On orders from the Secretary of the Army, names and strength of the units were withheld. It was reliably reported, however, that none of the units called up was from the St. Louis area. The units will be activated Aug. 19.

The units were understood to be non-divisional units—those not part of specific division. Most of the Guard units in the St. Louis area are part of the Thirty-fifth Division.

Assembled by Companies.

The reservists assembled by companies on a parade area at the Naval Reserve Training Center at the foot of Ferry street and were called to attention for roll call promptly at 8 a.m. The area for blocks around was jammed with parked automobiles that carried the families of the men to witness the ceremony.

Hundreds of women and children stood eight to 10 deep around the area and watched silently. There were few tears because the battalion hasn't yet received its orders to move away. A 30-piece band played the Marine Hymn and marches to lend color to the event.

The men wore summer khaki and the platoon of about 30 women Marines was trim in crisp, seersucker "greens."

There were very few stragglers for the roll call. Some of the men showed up late and some didn't appear at all. "But they'll be in," an officer said.

The men were in good spirits and if any were worried about what the next few weeks or months may bring, they didn't show it. They were described as "all worked up and ready to go."

Following roll call, the men

Americans Reported to Have Lost Hwanggan and to Have Shelled It —Planes Pound Communists.

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Sunday, July 30 (AP) — Two American infantry divisions, under grim orders to stand fast or die, beat back repeated Communist assaults today on mountain defense positions in southeast Korea.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said early Sunday the Red waves breaking against the First Cavalry and Twenty-fifth Infantry defenses were thrown back and there was no appreciable change in the vital Yongdong sector.

There the Americans confront elite North Korean invader divisions, and there the United States Eighth Army commander, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, told his men Saturday they must "fight to the death" if need be.

"My Army is not going to give up one more inch," declared Gen. Walker.

Hwanggan Reported Lost.

Shortly after, front dispatches reported the loss of Hwanggan, a village on the main American road-rail supply line. Correspondent Tom Lambert said the First Cavalry forces made an orderly withdrawal to new positions in the area and later turned artillery fire on the village.

(In Washington, a military spokesman said today the nation can expect word shortly of a landing of American reinforcements and fresh fighting equipment in Korea. He would not elaborate, but it is known that the First Marine Provisional Brigade, with supporting air wing, and the Army's Second Infantry Division are about due to reach the Far East.)

Slight Gains by Reds.

MacArthur's war summary said the Reds had made slight gains in two drives 45 to 60 miles northeast of the Yongdong sector but did not indicate their extent. He placed these in the Yongju-Andong and Tanyang-Yechon areas. (The defense of those positions has been largely in South Korean hands. The mountainous terrain and poor roads made the zone less vital than the front northeast and southeast of Yongdong.)

The Reds' southwest flanking threat to the big American supply port of Pusan also made some small gains but MacArthur said "crippling air strikes by Navy and Air Force planes and increasing numbers of United Nations ground units have contained the threat in this area."

His summary placed the southern Reds, who are in small force, in the vicinity of Kochang, 75 air miles northwest of Pusan, and at a point 10 miles east of Hadong, which also is 75 miles from Pusan. This indicated Hadong had been captured by the Reds.

Some American and South Korean forces were credited by MacArthur with slight gains near Yongdok, on the east coast, but that town remained in enemy hands and was still under Allied naval bombardment.

It was in the Yongdong sector, however, that the immediate course of the war was being written. And it was there that Gen. Walker told his divisional commanders and correspondents Saturday the fight to the death would be made, without further thought of any fallback.

Troops Are Told They Must Hold Till Help Arrives—He Pictures Butchery if They Fail.

WITH THE UNITED STATES TWENTY-FIFTH DIVISION, KOREA, July 29 (UP—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, hard-bitten American ground commander in Korea, told his men today they must stand their ground now or face "a butchery of Americans such as there has never been in history."

He warned them they must fight to the death to hold what they have.

Walker laid down the law to headquarters officers of the Twenty-fifth Division, part of his United States Eighth Army, and told them to relay his words to all Americans fighting in Korea.

"This operation very definitely has entered its crucial stage," Walker told correspondents after conferring with Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay of the First Cavalry and Maj. Gen. William B. Kean commanding the Twenty-fifth Division.

Walker talked to the correspondents in a schoolroom which Gay uses as an office.

'Retreated Our Last Step.'

"We have retreated our last step," he said in a fiery front-line speech reminiscent of some made by his own former commander, the late Gen. George S. Patton.

"We cannot afford to go back any further. In fact, there is no place left for us to withdraw to.

"There's no thought in the mind of anybody in this Army—even though we might be so disposed—that there possibly can be a Dunkerque. It would be impossible for us to get out. Every man must fight to the death if necessary until help arrives."

Walker said he was "damn sick and tired" of hearing the phrase, "withdrawing for the purpose of readjusting our lines."

"By God!" he exclaimed angrily. "There aren't going to be any more readjustments—except forward."

"Cannot Give Ground."

"There is to be no retreat," he repeated. "We must fight to the death to hold what we have. We cannot think of giving ground to the enemy and any man who does give ground will be personally responsible for the death of thousands of his buddies.

"We are going to win. Nothing is going to stop us. But every man must fight to the death if necessary until help arrives.

"MacArthur knows where we are and what we will have to fight with. We are fighting for time. We have reached the limit of our withdrawal."

Korean Situation At a Glance

KOREAN FRONT—Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of United States Eighth Army orders troops to "fight to the death" against North Koreans.

TOKYO—Headquarters spokesman says American infantrymen are holding main lines. Headquarters estimates Communists have lost 31,000 killed and wounded, 170 tanks destroyed, 100 tanks damaged.

AIR WAR—United States planes blast two Communist-held towns on southern tip of Korea despite bad weather. Carrier planes join attack for fourth consecutive day. Hadong and Kochang key targets of fighters.

Two-Stage Rocket in Test Hits Speed of 2700 and 3600 M.P.H.

LONG RANGE PROVING GROUND, Cocoa, Fla., July 29 (AP) — A 14½-ton two-stage rocket thundered eastward over the Atlantic today at a speed of 2727 miles an hour for the first missle and about 3600 miles an hour for the second.

Excellent conditions permitted observers to watch twin vapor trails after the two rockets separated about nine miles up and 22 miles east of the concrete launching pad.

The missile was made up of a German V-2 weighing 14 tons with a 700-pound rocket known as the "Wac Corporal" mounted atop it. The V-2 thundered aloft and in a matter of seconds attained its 2727-mile speed. It reached an altitude of nine miles in 63 seconds. There the "Wac Corporal" separated from it and roared eastward at a speed in excess of 5000 feet a second, or 3600 miles an hour.

In an identical launching from the same site Monday, the V-2 reached a maximum speed of 2700 miles an hour in a little more than a minute. The performance of the "Wac Corporal" was a secret. Unofficial estimates of its speed were as high as 5000 miles an hour.

Man Can't Give Falsies to Girl, NLRB Says---It's OK to Fire Him

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Insurance salesman George Moskowitz, who lost his job after giving a girl co-worker a pair of falsies, has lost an effort to get his job back.

The regional office of the National Labor Relations Board yesterday dismissed charges of unfair labor practices brought against Moskowitz's ex-employer, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

The charges had been brought by the United Office and Professional Workers of America, an independent union, which accused the company of firing Moskowitz for union activity and demanded his reinstatement.

The company, however, claimed Moskowitz was discharged because of the undignified nature of the gift he gave a girl employe in the company's Newark (N.J.) office for Christmas.

TRUMAN MAY ASK CONGRESS FOR 4 BILLIONS MORE TO REARM ALLIES

Senate Fight on ERP Expected — Legislative Leaders to Discuss Arms Aid at White House Monday.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—With prospects that President Truman soon will request four billion dollars more to rearm United States allies, a sharp Senate fight appeared to be brewing today over how much can safely be spent on European recovery.

There was renewed talk of diverting into the arms program some funds earmarked for economic assistance to western Europe.

Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress will meet at the White House Monday to discuss the new arms aid proposal with Truman, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson.

Word that the increase may total four billion dollars came from several sources, including Republican Senators who conferred yesterday with John Foster Dulles, Acheson's Republican adviser.

It would augment the $1,222,500,000 authorization already approved by Congress to furnish arms during the current fiscal year to nations abroad.

Sizable Share.

There were reports that the United States is going to insist that its defense partners bear a sizable share of the rearmament burden themselves. One military leader said that if they get 12 billion dollars from this country over the next three years, they will have to put up eight billion dollars of their own.

The reported new arms-aid request would almost double the spending previously recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee for all foreign aid—economic as well as military.

The committee approved a total of $4,522,158,729 for all foreign aid in the general appropriations bill now before the Senate. The largest item in this total is $2,391,930,000 in new money and $276,761,473 in carry-over funds for the Marshall Plan—a total of $2,668,691,473.

Senator Kem (Rep.), Missouri, a bitter foe of Administration foreign policies, has pending an amendment to cut the new cash to $1,950,000,000 and do away with the carry-over entirely.

Senator Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, one the other hand, has offered an amendment to hike the cash figure to $2,450,000,000.

Wherry Proposes Bar.

Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska has proposed barring Marshall Plan funds from any nation exporting to Russia or satellite states anything that might become "useful" for military purposes.

Wherry told reporters that Republicans also have discussed the possibility of transferring to military uses some of the funds set aside for the European Recovery Program.

The Senate has agreed to start voting Monday on these amendments.

DUBLIN SOLDIER PROPOSES IRISH BRIGADE FOR KOREA

DUBLIN, July 29 (AP)—An Irish soldier who served as a brigadier in the British army in World War II called today for the formation of an Irish brigade to fight in Korea.

Brig. E. Dorman O'Gowan made the proposal in a letter to the Dublin newspaper Irish Independent. "Korea," he said, "is not a private war, it is a crusade. Ireland through Russian machinations is not in the United Nations and cannot be formally called on for help."

O'Gowan called for individual volunteers and suggested America might accept them in its armed force although the group would "maintain its identity with Ireland."

DOCTOR, DENTIST VOLUNTEERS TO GET $100 EXTRA A MONTH

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Army said yesterday doctors and dentists volunteering for a year's active duty get $100 extra pay a month in addition to any other pay.

The $100 extra was authorized in 1947 as an incentive to get doctors and dentists into service. It is still in effect for all the armed forces.

Thus, a reserve captain in the Army Medical Corps who first entered service in 1942 would draw $456 a month, the equivalent of a lieutenant colonel's pay.

B-29 DOWNS BRITISH PLANE OFF KOREA DUE TO A MIXUP

TOKYO, July 29 (INS)—The Air Force reported today that American B-29s shot down a British plane Friday due to a mixup of identification.

The plane, a Seafire operating from a British carrier, was downed off the west coast of Korea. The pilot was rescued after landing on the sea. The Navy said that as a result of the incident "improved identification procedures" are being adopted.

Rex Ingram's Estate $200,000.

HOLLYWOOD, July 29 (AP)—Film director Rex Ingram's estate, estimated at $200,000, will go chiefly to his widow, the former actress Alice Terry, under his will filed for probate yesterday. Ingram, 58 years old, died July 21.

their willingness to back up this order by strong counterattacks that checked a big Communist push and piled up the North Korean dead. Red pressure shifted. But their guns and infantry continued to hammer at American and South Korean lines.

The Reds were taking heavy losses. More than 2000 died before the blazing guns of the United States First Cavalry and Twenty-fifth Infantry Divisions. How many Reds were wounded no one could tell.

An assessment of North Korean losses to date listed 31,000 Reds killed and wounded, 170 tanks destroyed and 100 others damaged. A spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters called the figures "conservative."

Planes Wreak Destruction.

Allied war planes, land-based and from carriers, roamed dripping Korean skies unchallenged, raining more destruction on the enemy, his transport and supply centers.

News of reinforcements from Okinawa, American airbase island in the Ryukyus south of Japan, was reported reliably but unofficially. They were not mentioned by Gen. MacArthur's announcement.

However, the official statement did report "an American roadblock" checked a southern coastal thrust at Ponggye, 55 miles west of Pusan—vital southeast port supplying the Allied holding action. Two other Red columns similarly were stalled in the south.

Counterattacking units of the United States First Cavalry and Twenty-fifth Infantry Divisions regained ground yielded Friday night on the central front in the critical Hwanggan sector.

The ferocity of the Communist assault was indicated by MacArthur's report that more than 2500 Reds were killed by the First Cavalry Division. More than 800 North Korean dead were counted in front of the Twenty-seventh regimental combat team of the Twenty-fifth Division.

Except for "slight adjustments," no appreciable change in the curving 200-mile mountainous front was reported in the 24-hour period up to about noon Saturday.

A rifle company had been cut off in the central sector, but it was relieved by the counterattacks. MacArthur said this particular United States thrust regained 2000 yards of ground. However, the Americans withdrew about half the distance to better defensive positions.

Navy planes Friday broke through a low ceiling and skip-bombed a railway tunnel entrance southeast of Yongdong where a suspected North Korean command post had been set up.

'I wouldn't want to have been in that tunnel," said one officer. It was not known immediately if both ends of the tunnel were sealed by the direct hits.

MacArthur's spokesman who discussed North Korean losses said "there are no signs of replacements for the tanks." He added that untrained conscripts are being shoved into the line by the North Koreans to replace heavy casualties.

Four-Days' Training for Reds.

Some of the 500 Red prisoners he said have been captured, were rushed to the front after only four days training. Heavy casualties have made it impossible to fill the holes in the line with trained men. The high losses continue.

The spokesman said the conscripts are being taken from both North and South Korea and are being forced to fight with decreasing tank support.

In contrast, MacArthur's headquarters spokesman said, American troops are showing greater stability and seasoning. They fought off North Korean attacks for three days at least as heavy as the Red attacks on the Kum river line and Taejon. The spokesman said the new Red assaults were halted because Americans demonstrated "greater stability and greater ability to handle the attacks." He added: Mutual support by adjacent front line United States units has been highly developed in recent days. This is "indicative of seasoning."

Spokesmen declined to speculate on the possibility of a Red break-through on the central front. They said a break-through was "always possible," and added: "we are still willing to give ground if the enemy pays enough for it."

Dark arrows mark North Korean thrusts against American-South Korean forces (open arrows) all along the battle line. In the south, a three-pronged Red advance (A) is being blunted by American roadblocks. In central sector, the invaders (B) smashed at American positions while South Koreans (C) were engaged in heavy fighting in the Hamchang-Yechon sector. At Yongdok (D), the Reds were unable to dislodge Korean defenders south of the town.

WHOLESALE PRICES SHOW .2 OF 1 PCT. RISE FOR WEEK

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Wholesale prices increased two-tenths of one per cent, on the average, during the week ended last Tuesday, July 25. This was a smaller increase than those of the preceding weeks.

The figures were announced yesterday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which said its index of average wholesale prices on Tuesday was 163.7 per cent of the 1926 average. This was 4.2 per cent above four weeks ago (just after the Korean fighting started). The revised index for July 18 was 163.3. Those figures are based on an average of from 350 to 400 commodities.

By contrast, the bureau's index of wholesale prices of 28 "sensitive" commodities increased 3.8 per cent in the week ending July 25. This index stood 13.6 per cent above the level of June 23, two days before the Korean invasion.

Meanwhile, the international situation pushed farm prices up 6.5 per cent between mid-June and mid-July, the Department of Agriculture reported. The department said the price level was the highest in 18 months, and added that prices have risen still further since July 15.

WOOL FIRM WITHDRAWS LINES

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The American Woolen Co., world's largest manufacturer of woolen and worsted fabrics, yesterday withdrew all of its lines from new sales until further notice. The company said the confused situation on raw wool supplies and costs and uncertain demands led to the action.

FRESH MARINE UNITS SOON TO ARRIVE IN KOREA

Power-Packed Force to Include Pilots Who Fought in World War II.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—The pending arrival of fresh, combat-trained troops in the Far East was believed today to be a major factor in the Pentagon's optimism over the Korean situation.

The small, but power-packed First Marine Brigade—part of the Marine Corps famed First Division—should be reaching the Far Eastern theater at any moment. With it will be the First Marine Air Wing whose pilots fought in World War II.

Also due there at any hour is the Army's crack Second Infantry Division, first major Army force to be sent from this country to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command since the outbreak of the Korean war.

All of these units are combat trained. The occupation troops that MacArthur had to throw into the fight at the outset were just beginning to receive combat training in Japan when the war broke out.

This was believed to have had a great deal to do with the optimistic attitude of United States military leaders. A spokesman said yesterday:

"There is no reason to despair the situation. We're not going to be thrown off the Korean peninsula."

He said his statement was based on communications from MacArthur to high officials here.

Public criticism soon may prod the Defense Department into ordering a shake-up in some of the armed forces' programs for keeping servicemen informed about world affairs.

Frontline dispatches have reported that some soldiers in Korea are ill-informed and don't know why we're fighting.

The Army believes the criticism is unjust. A spokesman voluntarily brought up the subject at a briefing at the Pentagon yesterday. He outlined the Army's extensive troop information program and the steps taken to concentrate it on the Korean situation.

Although the spokesman did not mention it, a presidential fact finding committee has said that the Army's program—while in need of improvement — is still more effective than either the Navy's or the Air Forces'.

DEFEAT NOW WOULD MEAN NEW WORLD WAR, SAYS NIMITZ

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz said yesterday that the surest way to have World War III is to lose the fight in Korea.

Nimitz was wartime commander of Allied naval forces in the Pacific. At present he is a consultant to the United Nations. He has been called back to duty with the U.N., he said, from an indefinite leave.

He is plebiscite administrator designate for the U.N. in the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan. He spoke before the United Nations Association of Chicago.

"If we—and I mean the United Nations—lose, I don't think we can hold off World War III," he told reporters.

Nimitz said that "It is my personal opinion" that the atom bomb should not be used in Korea unless the A-bomb can be precisely dropped on a military objective worthy of the expenditure of such power.

CHURCH IN GERMANY ASSAILS RED ATTACKS ON BISHOP

BERLIN, July 29 (AP)—The powerful Evangelical Church of Germany has bluntly told the Soviet zone Communist government its attacks on Bishop Otto Dieblius are being regarded as attacks on the church itself.

"We shall not be separated from Bishop Dieblius by anything," the church leadership representing millions of Protestants asserted in a statement yesterday.

The pronouncement was made as a direct retort to Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl of the eastern government. A persistent critic of the bishop, Grotewohl climaxed a series of complaints with a particularly sharp attack in a speech to the Socialist Unity (Communist) party convention last Friday.

TOWN IS DAMAGED BY QUAKE 10TH IN CALIFORNIA IN 3 DAYS

CALIPATRIA, Calif., July 29 (AP)—Imperial valley's tenth earthquake in three days today damaged much of the business section of this town of 2000 population.

Chief of Police Bob Merrill said all of the business district's 15 buildings had cracks in them. Most of the plate-glass store windows were smashed by the sharp jolt which hit at 7:38 a.m., Pacific daylight time. He said there were no injuries reported.

First Negro Judge in Michigan.

DETROIT, July 29 (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday appointed Negro attorney Charles W. Jones to the Detroit recorder's court bench. He is the first Negro to hold a judgeship in Michigan. Jones, 47-year-old former assistant prosecutor, will serve in the state's highest municipal court.

South Korean General Checks Advance of Three Red Divisions

By KEYES BEECH

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1950.

AT THE FRONT LINE WITH THE SOUTH KOREAN ARMY, July 29—The 29-year-old, five-foot-five South Korean General had done something no American general had been able to do so far—He had checked the Communist advance from the north at least for the time being.

For more than two weeks Brig. Gen. Yu Jae Heung and a corps of South Korean troops have held the same line without substantial change against tnree enemy divisions.

Meanwhile, the Americans have retreated so far south that the South Koreans now occupy the northernmost position along a 100-mile front zigzagging from Yongdong in the west to Hamchang in the east. On a map, the South Koreans stick out like a sore thumb.

Yanks Abandon Guns.

In their withdrawal the Americans have abandoned large numbers of guns and ammunition which the enemy is now shooting back at them.

Gen. Yu claims the capture of 619 enemy weapons and 25,000 rounds of ammunition. In addition, he claims 1005 North Korean dead and 105 prisoners.

Japanese-trained Yu is a meticulous man. He isn't satisfied with anything less than a body count of Communist dead.

The secret of Yu's success seems to be that he attacks. The other day when a company commander withdrew from his position without orders, Gen. Yu convened a court martial and had him shot.

More Chipper Now.

I first saw Gen. Yu a month ago sitting dejectedly in his command post, the general office of a hospital, on the south bank of the Han river two days after the fall of Seoul. He was more chipper last night in his schoolhouse command post near Hamchang, fronted by three bottles of scotch and a bowl of peaches and apples.

Munching on an apple, the diminutive general explained that his latest strategy was to encircle the enemy's rear and drive him south instead of north. This maneuver had been so successful that the enemy now threatens to cut off the general's main supply route south. Now it is necessary, said the general, to send troops south to drive the enemy back north.

U.S. PLANES BLAST 2 TOWNS DESPITE THE BAD WEATHER

Hadong and Kochang in Southern Korea Are Targets—Carrier Craft Take Part.

TOKYO, July 29 (AP)—American planes blasted two Communist-held towns on the southern tip of Korea today despite bad weather. Carrier planes joined the attack for the fourth consecutive day.

Hadong and Kochang were the key targets of fighter planes, dispatches from Korea reported.

Mustangs hit Hadong heavily. An air observer said a 160-vehicle convoy was strafed and 40 vehicles were hit. Many of them burned. Hadong is a road and rail town 75 miles west of the United States supply port of Pusan.

Another column of 25 vehicles was attacked nearby.

Anui Also Attacked.

Fighters also attacked Anui and hit a Red concentration about a mile and a half west of Kochang, which the Communists were reported to have entered today. Both are on the southern front.

One pilot reported hitting three Red tanks with rockets near Anui, 10 miles southwest of Kochang.

First Lt. Joseph W. Rogers of Worthington, O., said, "They weren't expecting us today because of the weather, but we got in under it and found excellent targets."

Rogers shot up a convoy of troop-laden trucks near Anui. Other pilots hit troop and truck concentrations.

B-26 Is Downed.

The new blows followed attacks yesterday at widely separated targets. Enemy anti-aircraft fire Friday downed a B-26.

The light bomber crashed near Chongju, in Red-held territory 25 miles north of fallen Taejon. It was attacking six Red tanks when it was hit.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that land and carrier-based planes took part in the far-flung attacks.

The land planes—Superforts, light bombers and fighters—were American. British and United States planes teamed up for assaults from carriers, apparently off the west coast in the Yellow sea.

Described as Task Force 77, the Navy planes provided support for United States ground troops.

They hit North Korean columns and armor moving up for a big offensive and set fire to seven villages. Pilots said the attacks took a heavy toll among Red troops.

Superforts and light bombers blasted 15 major targets in central and North Korea. They concentrated on main arteries carrying Red supplies to the front.

'BED-CHECK CHARLIE' NOW IN KOREA; PEST OF WORLD WAR II

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA, July 29 (AP)—Old "Bed-Check Charlie" is back again at the fighting front and in the rear areas.

The veterans of World War II will remember Charlie. He was the enemy pilot who always came snooping around after dark as if to see that everybody was tucked into his blanket or foxhole.

When "Bed-Check Charlie" wore a German uniform, he patrolled North Africa, Sicily, Italy, and then kept late hours across Europe. He would come droning over in the darkness and you would lie there and wonder if he were looking for you this time with a stick of bombs.

Well, "Bed-Check Charlie" was back again the other night—this time in the uniform of a North Korean Red, I suppose.

He slipped through the American night air patrols and came over at less than 500 feet to plop a fire bomb in our area.

He probably returned home north of the 38th parallel and reported: "We slaughtered 'em, boss. There was a great explosion and flames shot into the air for hundreds of feet. I must have hit an ammunition dump."

Actually, old "Bed-Check" put his bomb smack in the middle of an empty courtyard. The most damage he did was to interrupt the snores of correspondents and get a South Korean fire department out of bed.

It was a puny effort, but it made me thankful once again that the American flyboys rule the air almost completely over Korea.

Gen. Gay Is Apostle of Attack, Didn't Like Retreat in Korea

Leader of Great Offensives in World War II Never Fought Defensive Battle Before.

By HAL BOYLE

AN ADVANCED COMMAND POST IN KOREA (AP)—The pulling back of the American line in Korea this week under intense Communist pressure galled many a young United States soldier.

But it galled none more than the two-star commander of the First Cavalry Division, which took the heaviest blows.

Over the 35 years he has spent in Army service and actions on four continents, Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay never had to fight a defensive battle until a few days ago.

"And I don't like it at all," he said grimly.

Gay is an apostle of attack. He spark-plugged some of the great offensives made by American armies in World War II. As chief of staff for Gen. George Patton, Gay co-ordinated successful drives in North Africa and Sicily and the famous Third Army sweep across France and Germany.

Forces Spread Too Thin.

Memories of those days must have been much in the mind of this lean, balding, hard-bitten veteran as he meticulously plotted on a big command post map a slow and stubborn withdrawal of his division. It wasn't the fact that he faced between two and three enemy divisions on his front that worried him so much as the fact the American forces have been spread so thin that flank protection is difficult.

Gay, son of a Northport (Ill.) farmer, still speaks with a dry Midwestern twang.

"We have been heavily engaged," he said. "I know we have hurt them—and they've hurt us some. We have had a knock-down, dragout fight and we are going on and fight it all the way out. So far the men have fought beautifully. They have fought like veterans."

Gay said he felt "the whole situation is summed up by refugees." Thousands cross the American line daily and amidst this mass of terror-stricken humanity are armed North Korean guerrillas seeking to get through in order to disrupt United States positions from the rear. So far no way has been found to cope with this situation.

MAJ. GEN. HOBART GAY

"The American soldier—thank God—doesn't want to kill people ruthlessly," said Gay soberly. "But we must find a means to hold these refugees in place. They are endangering our men's lives."

Hunting bandits is nothing new to the general, although he never took part in a "police action" on this scale before.

Chased Bandits in Mexico.

"I once commanded a troop in the old Seventh Cavalry when we were chasing bandits along the Mexican border," he said. He was a lieutenant then and later served in France during World War I.

Gay is known as one of the most methodical planners in the Army. He makes daily tours of advanced frontline positions to check his operations. The other day when he found vehicles massing on one battlefront road—making a perfect target for any enemy aircraft—he dismounted from his jeep and personally broke up the traffic jam.

He is anxious to open an offensive as soon as the American battle line has firmed.

"Marshal Foch once made the statement that there comes a time in every battle when both commanders think they have lost—and he who attacks wins," said Gay. "I am going to attack."

He praised the performance of the new 3.5 super-bazookas and said they are powerful enough to blow up a building.

"There is a report going around here that I promised the bazooka men a bottle of whisky for each enemy tank they knock out," Gay said with a grin. "That isn't true. I promised them a bottle of champagne for each one.

"And I hope it costs me $500."

BRANNAN ASSAILS HOARDERS, SAYS THEY ARE 'SUCKERS'

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Hoarders are "suckers," Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said last night.

Furthermore, he said, hoarding is silly because it is unnecessary and undemocratic, and in addition it gives profiteers "the only excuse they can find for jacking up food costs."

Well-informed persons are not hoarding, and they wouldn't know what items to hoard even if they decided to do so, Brannan said. He outlined the situation in a Washington recording made for a network broadcast.

"I have studied the food situation very carefully and I can tell you we have never been in better shape," he said.

TWO STEEL FIRMS ORDERED TO DISBAND COMPANY UNIONS

PHILADELPHIA, July 29 (AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday adjudged the Weirton Steel Co., and its parent, National Steel Corp., seven of their top executives and five officers of an independent labor union guilty of contempt of court.

The court held the two corporations and the 12 individuals had violated a Circuit Court decree of May 18, 1943, and ordered them to disestablish two company-dominated unions and "keep their hands off" the rights of the workers to join any union of their choice.

7 HURT WHEN ROOF SECTION FALLS AT DETROIT BALL GAME

DETROIT, July 29 (AP)—Seven spectators were injured last night when a large sheet of metal roofing toppled into the Briggs Stadium grandstand just as the Philadelphia-Detroit baseball game ended.

Baseball executives said only one man, identified as Ira Burbage, 50 years old, Detroit, was seriously injured. They reported that the heavy metal section struck him on the head and back. He was given first aid and removed to a doctor's office.

Edward T. Fitzgerald, public relations director for the Tigers, said the heavy piece of metal toppled into the upper deck of the grandstand as more than 200 persons in the immediate vicinity scrambled for safety.

Police and stadium attendants joined in extricating the injured and taking them to the stadium first aid room. The other six casualties, all Detroiters, suffered minor cuts and bruises.

LIEGE IN STATE OF SIEGE OVER RETURN OF KING

Troops Called Out to Keep Peace — Move ment to Secede C in South Belgium.

BRUSSELS, July 29 (AP)—The Government declared a state of siege in Liege, today as opposition to the return of King Leopold to the throne mounted. The Government has called out the Army to maintain peace.

It was reported a battalion of the crack Chasseurs Ardennais regiment had been alerted to move into the city.

Liege, a French-speaking industrial center, is a stronghold of Belgians who want to drive Leopold from the throne he regained a week ago.

Socialist sources said a movement was rising in Belgium's French-speaking south to secede from the rest of the country, under a provisional government at Liege. Liege was the scene of a clash yesterday between grenade-tossing strikers and sabre-swinging mounted police. The hour-long skirmish, in which six persons were injured, climaxed a week of strikes, demonstrations and sabotage which sought to force Leopold off the throne again and which brought Belgium to near-anarchy.

Half a million workers had responded to the Socialist strike call. Antwerp and Ghent, the two main ports, were tied up.

Rioting by anti-Leopoldists continued in Brussels today for the second day. Demonstrators marched through the city singing the revolutionary "Marseillaise." Mounted police, with drawn, swords, charged a crowd as it was trying to overturn a streetcar. The gendarmes then were attacked by the demonstrators.

The Governor of Brabant Province, which surrounds Brussels, ordered the army to take over power stations and telephone exchanges.

Anti-Leopold mobs surged through the streets of Brussels and other large cities yesterday attacking streetcars, taxicabs and stores operating despite a strike call.

DEFENDER OF MIHAILOVIC SENTENCED IN YUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE, July 29 (AP)—A civilian court has sentenced to three years in prison the attorney who four years ago defended Gen. Draja Mihailovic, the Chetnik leader executed by Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz's Communist authorities.

The lawyer, Dragic Joksimovic, and six co-defendants who also goot prison terms were charged with promoting the return to Yugoslavia of the old royalist rule of King Peter.

ALLISON-HENNINGS FIGHT FOR SENATE NOMINATION IS IN SHOWDOWN STAGE

Both Express Confidence of Victory in Tuesday's Election — Plan to Wind Up Campaign Here.

The showdown battle between Thomas C. Hennings Jr. and State Senator Emery W. Allison for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator entered the final stages last night, with each candidate claiming he will win in next Tuesday's primary election.

Hennings told a huge Negro rally at Vashon Community Center that "we are completely confident of victory, and by winning will demonstrate that the processes of Democracy are still alive."

Allison, who has the backing of President Truman, was equally certain he would win the nomination. Speaking at a Fourth Ward meeting at 2431 Spring avenue, Allison said reports from outstate Missouri and St. Louis show that he will win by a "good majority" over the four other candidates in the race.

Magistrate J. Glennon McKenna, an Allison campaign director here, said it is possible that Allison will carry St. Louis, which has been regarded as a major Hennings stronghold because Hennings has the support of 26 of the 28 regular Democratic ward organizations. McKenna said a number of Democratic committeemen would make a last minute switch to Allison.

Hennings's backers here, however, say he will carry St. Louis by 40,000 to 50,000 votes. Both candidates are winding up their campaigns here because of the importance of the city vote. Allison is expected to have an advantage in the outstate balloting, but it may not be large enough to offset a topheavy Hennings vote here.

The turn out for last night's Vashon meeting was cited by the Hennings' camp as a demonstration of his vote-getting strength. The crowd was estimated at more than 2000, or four times as large as the gathering at a similar Allison meeting at the Vashon center earlier this week.

In his talk at the meeting, Hennings said the voters should carefully scrutinize the records of the candidates to select "the man who has demonstrated he will fight to preserve our economic security, the gains won by labor and the growth of human relations."

A statement by Chairman John J. Dwyer of the Democratic City Committee in support of Allison, was read at the Fourth Ward rally last night by Mayor Joseph M. Darst, a leading Allison backer.

Dwyer, who was unable to attend the meeting because of illness, said "we are happy to do every thing possible" for Allison because the President has indorsed him. The type of campaign being conducted by Allison, he said, "not only assures his nomination but will aid the entire Democratic ticket November." Dwyer is City Treasurer and committeeman of the ward.

STEPIN FETCHIT TOO SLOW FOR MEMPHIS FIRM; IT SUES

Stepin Fetchit, slow-moving Negro motion picture comedian of 20 years ago, was sued yesterday in circuit court by a Memphis film company for $700 and the return of motion picture equipment valued at $1000.

The suit, brought by the Southern Visual Equipment Co., named as defendant "Cleveland Perry, also known as Stepin Fetchit." Perry's first name was Lincoln when he gained screen prominence in the early 1930s. He has been in St. Louis for the last month, appearing in night clubs with a soft-shoe routine.

In the court action, the Memphis concern asked for additional damages of $1000 if recovery of the equipment is not possible. Part of the damages sought are for eight 35-millimeter films Perry is alleged to have ordered and not paid for.

54 PROBATIONARY PATROLMEN GRADUATED FROM ACADEMY

Graduation exercises for 54 probationary patrolmen, who have completed a 12-week training course, were held today at the St. Louis Police Academy, Twelfth and Spruce streets.

The principal speaker was Walter H. Toberman, Secretary of State for Missouri, who said: "In America our police officers are regarded with respect. Here we have no secret police spying upon our citizens, exercising control over their thoughts, as the police of Communist and other dictator countries do."

Other speakers included William L. Holzhausen, Police Board president; Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell and Joseph F. Flynn, president of the graduating class.

CITY AIRPORT BUILDING ON COUNTY TAX BOOKS

Structure Leased to McDonnell Corp. Is Assessed at $3,486,360.

The City-owned building at Lambert-St. Louis Field, leased by the city to McDonnell Aircraft Corp., was placed on the tax books by the St. Louis County Board of Equalization today for a total valuation of $3,486,360. It was the final action of the board, which then adjourned after having been in session since June 5.

The city will have until Aug. 15 to appeal the assessment to the State Tax Commission, and a spokesman for the City Counselor's office said an appeal will be made. The commission in 1948 removed the property from the tax books on the theory it was municipally owned and, therefore, exempt from taxation.

Assessor Phil G. Deuser of St. Louis county said that, if the city appeals the assessment, county officials will argue that the city should pay taxes because it receives income from rental of the property. McDonnell pays the city $480,000 a year rental.

The equalization board also placed a $300,000 assessment on the McDonnell corporation for merchants' and manufacturers' taxes.

AMMONIA LEAK IN STREET HURRIES PEDESTRIANS ALONG

Ammonia fumes escaping from a manhole in St. Charles street, east of Ninth street, caused pedestrians in the vicinity some discomfort for an hour and a half yesterday. They covered their faces with handkerchiefs and hurried past, eyes smarting and watering from the fumes.

The gas leaked from a break in a vacuum line owned by the Merchants Refrigerating Co., 1301 Lewis street, which furnishes refrigeration for air-conditioning systems at Loew's Orpheum Theater, Hotel Mayfair and a number of downtown office buildings. There was no interruption of service, the vacuum line being one used to pump gas out of an area when work is being done on feeder lines.

A crowd of some 100 curious onlookers gathered at the intersection of Ninth and St. Charles, but police had no particular difficulty in keeping them from crowding around the manhole as repairmen fixed the break.

MORRIS HOFFMAN PAYS $7000 DUE ON $10,000 TAX FINE

Morris Hoffman, whose grocery at 5282 Page boulevard was swept by fire Thursday while he was serving a 60-day jail term for income tax evasion, has paid the remaining $7000 due on the $10,000 fine levied on the same charge.

A check for $7000 was tendered to the clerk to the United States District Court here yesterday. Hoffman had paid $3000 previously.

Hoffman's 60-day term will be completed tomorrow. Payment of the $10,000 fine was a condition of his release. He had pleaded guilty to evading payment of $9806 in federal income taxes for the years 1944 and 1945.

BOY INJURED TRYING TO JUMP FROM ONE ROOF TO ANOTHER

Edward C. Wofel, 13-year-old school boy, suffered head injuries and a fractured right arm yesterday when he fell about 20 feet to a concrete pavement while attempting to jump from the roof of his home at 3301A Kennerly avenue to the roof of the house next door at 3303 Kennerly.

The boy, son of Mrs. Margaret Wofel, was playing with a companion, who warned him against attempting the leap, police said. Ignoring his friend's advice, Edward jumped and caught the edge of the neighboring roof with his fingertips. He was unable to hold on and fell. He is at City Hospital.

SEPTEMBER DRAFT QUOTAS INCREASED TO 273 FOR CITY AND 113 FOR COUNTY

NEW and increased September draft quotas of 273 men for St. Louis and 113 for St. Louis County were announced officially today by Brig. Gen. John A. Harris, Missouri Adjutant general and state selective service director.

Earlier quotas of 110 for St. Louis and 45 for the county were revised upward after the Army on Thursday raised the state quota to 1205 men for September, instead of the previous suota of 482. The increases were caused by the Army's adding 30,000 men to its original call, nationally, for 20,000 draftees in September.

New quotas for draft boards in St. Louis are: Board 103, 24 men; Board 104, 29; Board 105, 33; Board 106, 38; Board 107, 22; Board 108, 25; Board 109, 25; Board 110, 47 and Board 111, 30.

In the county new quotas are: Board 100, 39; Board 101, 29 and Board 102, 45.

Gen. Harris has directed that the quotas be filled as soon as possible, pointing out that the men would have to be inducted into the Army before Sept. 30.

MIRIAM-ROSA BRY PROGRAM OF REHABILITATION PRAISED

The Miriam-Rosa Bry Convalescent Hospital in Webster Groves has one of the finest rehabilitation programs in the country, Dr Donald C. Covalt of the Rusk Institute, New York, reported to hospital leaders at a luncheon yesterday at the Columbian Club.

Dr. Covalt, who has just completed a study of the institution, declared its physical therapy department was complete and outstanding, but recommended that additional physical therapists be employed if possible.

Commenting on a previous suggestion that the hospital be merged with Jewish Hospital, Dr. Covalt said there were many advantages in maintaining a convalescent hospital apart from a general hospital, and that patients would benefit by the country environment of its present location.

MAN IS CRUSHED TO DEATH WHEN ELEVATOR FALLS ON HIM

Wyart Taylor, Negro, who had basement quarters at 3959 McPherson avenue, was killed today when he was crushed beneath an elevator at the Esquire Hotel, 447 North Sarah street.

Taylor, 25 years old, was cleaning the pit when the elevator, operated on a self-service system, fell from the second floor. No one was in the elevator and the cause of the fall was not determined. Firemen had to cut a hole in the bottom of the elevator to remove Taylor's body.

750 Cases of Liquid Assets.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 29 (AP) — The liquid assets of the Brookline Savings and Loan Co. will be increased literally if a couple fails to pay off a $2000 loan. A chattel filed yesterday disclosed that Edward and Mary Ann Coennen put up 750 cases of beer as part securtiy for the 60-day loan. Coennen is a beer distributor.

MARINE RESERVE BATTALION GOES ON ACTIVE DUTY

and women stood by for physical examinations which will take most of the day. They will have "liberty" tonight. Those who miss physical examination today will be required to report again tomorrow morning. The others will be free until "0800" Monday. Daily, thereafter, the entire battalion will be required to report until orders to leave are received.

Sixty men have been working all week getting the battalion's weapons and equipment packed for departure. The outfit now is ready to move on a moment's notice. There has been no indication when such orders will come from Marine headquarters in Washington.

About 10 men in civilian clothing, a little sheepish but very proud, paid special attention to the platoon of Women Marines. They were the husbands of young women who went on active duty with the battalion and will be assigned to clerical tasks at a Marine installation in the United States. Leader of the women's platoon is Tech. Sgt. Peggy Musselman, 5059A Vernon avenue.

Chaplain Rushes Back.

Among those who arrived just in time for mobilization this morning was the battalion's chaplain, Lt. (jg.) Leonard B. Dohrman, a Navy officer of Augusta, Mo. He rushed back to duty from North Dakota, where he was on vacation.

The battalion has 31 male officers and one female officer; 650 enlisted men and 55 enlisted women as well as a chaplain, physician and dentist, who are naval officers, and 11 naval enlisted men, who are medical corpsmen. The female officer was not called to active duty.

Commanding officer of the battalion is Maj. Glynn E. Clark, 5314 Englewood place, Normandy, who, in civilian life is assistant director of education in the St. Louis public school system.

TWO MEN ROB 4 PERSONS OF $83 WITHIN TWO HOURS

Two Negroes, one described as short and thin, the other as tall and heavy-set, strong-armed and robbed four persons within two hours early today, taking a total of $83.

Kelly Winston, a Negro, 2205½ South Fourth street, was robbed of $18 as he came out of a gangway at 1319 Carr street. Shortly afterward, the pair knocked down Henry E. Pigg, 1106 South Broadway, in the 1200 block of South Broadway and took $30 from him.

Ray Davis, 1433 Clinton street, was struck on the head and robbed of $32 while he was asleep in a doorway near his home, he told police. In the 1600 block of Franklin avenue, the pair found Eddie Campbell, 920 North Seventeenth street, asleep in his automobile, threw him to the sidewalk, took $3.65 from him and fled in his machine. The adandoned automobile was found later by police.

DR. CASBERG URGES MEDICAL SETUP TO PREPARE FOR WAR

A thorough medical organization must be formed to prepare properly for disaster or another war, Dr. Melvin A. Casberg, dean of the St. Louis University School of Medicine, said yesterday. Dr. Casberg spoke at commencement exercises at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex.

EWING ADMITS LOBBYING FOR CABINET STATUS

Tells House Group Pressure on Congress for Welfare Department Was Duty.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP) —Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing admitted yesterday he helped organize pressure on Congress for approval of a plan to boost his agency to Cabinet status.

Ewing told the House Lobby Investigating Committee that he considered it not only his "right but his duty" to plug for the plan and for President Truman's compulsory health program.

Under questioning by Representative Clarence J. Brown (Rep.), Ohio, Ewing admitted that he attended a meeting last month sponsored by the American Association of Social Workers to line up pressure on the Senate for approval of the President's reorganization plan to establish a Department of Welfare.

Subject of Meeting.

Brown asked, "Wasn't it discussed how best to organize to influence Congress to vote for plan 27?"

"That was the subject of the meeting," Ewing replied.

He said persons at the meeting asked him about the "attitude of various senators and I told them."

Brown said that as a politician he could advise Ewing that he made a mistake in concentrating on the Senate for approval of the plan instead of the House.

"I realize that now," Ewing replied.

The House defeated the plan, 249 to 71. The Senate last year killed a similar plan.

Brown asked "did you tell members (of the meeting) to work on Mundt (Senator Karl E. Mundt, (Rep.), South Dakota), and Morse, (Senator Wayne Morse (Rep.), Oregon)?"

"No," Ewing answered. "If I had thought of it I would have. I have a perfect right to do so."

Doesn't Really Comment

"Did you say labor organizations should be able to swing Senator Ives (Rep.), New York in favor of plan 27?"

"I don't recall it," Ewing said.

"Did you say that Senator Edward Martin (Rep.), Pennsylvania could swing Senator George W. Malone (Rep.), Nevada if enough pressure is put on?" Brown asked.

"No," Ewing said.

"But you did tell them to do every bit possible to line up the Southern Democrats?" Brown asked.

"Yes sir," Ewing replied.

"You were acting as a private citizen, having left the robes of offices downtown?" Brown asked.

"I have a perfect right to do what I did," Ewing answered. "No Government funds were spent."

BABY WITH BEAN LODGED IN THROAT DIES IN AMBULANCE

Joyce Elaine Blumenstock, 21 months old, Vergennes, Ill., died yesterday in an ambulance bringing her to St. Louis for an emergency operation to remove a bean lodged in her throat.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blumenstock, was playing on the floor near a table where the mother was washing beans when she suddenly began to choke. The parents took her to a physician in Murphysboro. He placed the child in an ambulance equipped with oxygen and set out for Barnes Hospital. A nurse accompanied them, with state police providing an escort.

St. Louis police were to escort the ambulance from MacArthur bridge, but the girl's condition became worse and the 93-mile trip was cut short in East St. Louis. The physician attempted an emergency operation in the ambulance, but the child was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

A coroner's jury in Belleville returned a verdict of accidental death.

DRUG CLERK FOILS ROBBER

Herbert Sokolik, clerk in a drug store at 2336 Franklin avenue, reported a Negro youth attempted to take a cigar box containing about $200 from him yesterday as he was entering the store.

Sokolik was returning after cashing checks in the Jefferson Bank & Trust Co. across the street. The youth attempted to seize the box but missed. When he tried a second time, Sokolik struggled with him and called for help. The youth ran south on Jefferson avenue. Sokolik lives at 7281 Cornell avenue, University City.

OFFICIAL BALLOT

CITY CHARTER ELECTION

August 1, 1950

(Submitted Pursuant to Ordinance 45,391)

For the new or revised Charter..... YES

For the new or revised Charter..... ~~NO~~

(To vote in favor of said new or revised Charter, strike out the word "No"; to vote against it, strike out the word "Yes.")

This is the official charter ballot which voters at the primary election next Tuesday will receive with the primary ballot. It is marked to show how to vote in favor of adopting the proposed new city charter. A simple majority will insure its adoption.

NEED SEEN FOR DESIRE TO PROMOTE WELFARE

Democracy Must Inspire Free Men to Defeat Dictatorship, Says Compton.

A democratic society must be motivated by a strong desire to promote the common welfare if it is to compete successfully with a dictatorship in which there is unity of purpose imposed by ruling authority, Chancellor Arthur H. Compton of Washington University declared yesterday.

Discussing the new organization called World Brotherhood in a talk before the St. Louis Round Table of Christians and Jews at Hotel Statler, he said the need for a unifying purpose is the basic requirement for meeting dangers.

"Russia," he declared, "constitutes our most immediate danger because it would force those over whom it can extend its power into subjection to the will of a small ruling group who themselves set the goal and determine the part that each shall play."

"To answer this threat, there are three requirements: first, adequate military defense to prevent the forcible extension of the Russian power; second, a healthy and growing economy, which will maintain predominant strength and prosperity in the free world; and third, a vital belief in what the free world stands for as contrasted with the actual goals toward which Russia is working.

"Of these three requirements, if the third is met in full measure, recent demonstrations of the strength of the democracies under the test of war show that the first and second can also be met. The prime requisite is simply that free men everywhere shall hold before the world a banner that will inspire them to its service."

International commissions designed to improve intergroup relations are being set up, Dr. Compton said in reporting on the meeting held in Paris last month by representatives from 12 nations. "The goal that World Brotherhood holds before us," he declared, "is simply to enable every man and every woman to become useful, respected and valued by those whom their lives affect."

ADDITIONAL $21,000 GRANTED FOR OVERLAND SEWER SURVEY

A grant of $21,000 for preliminary planning for a proposed storm sewer system in Overland has been approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, it was announced yesterday.

Mayor Norman Myers of Overland said the money would be used to defray the cost of additional engineering work to determine storm sewer needs of the community. The planning was begun with a federal grant of $22,500 received in 1946. Estimated cost of construction of the system is $694,000.

CENT-A-QUART MILK PRICE RISE BY TWO OTHER BIG DAIRIES

Cent-a-quart increases in the retail prices of homogenized and regular Grade A milk have been announced by Pevely and St. Louis dairies. The increases—Pevely's efective tomorrow and St. Louis Dairy's Monday—will make retail prices on the two types of milk, respectively, 22 and 21 cents a quart.

A similar price increase, which was effective immediately, was announced yesterday by the Beatrice Foods Co., distributors of Meadow Gold milk.

Reasons given for the price increases were an increase in the cost of raw products and recent wage increases and pension and welfare allowances for dairy workers. Officers of the dairies said the new prices are the same as the last three months of 1949 and "are lower than at any time during 1948."

OPERATOR OF PIONEER RELAY OFFICE GETS INQUIRY SUBPENA

Leonard Vogt, operator of a relay station of the Pioneer News Service, Inc., distributors of racing news information in the Fullerton Building, was served with a subpena yesterday afternoon by George H. White, investigator for the Senate crime investigating committee headed by Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. The subpena ordered Vogt to hold himself in readiness to appear before the committee.

White, accompanied by Capt. Jos. A. Wren, head of the gambling squad, went to the offices of "Associated Transportation Enterprizes" in room 321 of the Peoples Finance Building, 11 North Jefferson avenue, where they found seven telephones. Vogt explained one telephone was used to get results and information from Pioneer and the information was then relayed to six customers.

Capt. Wren and his squad had had the place under investigation for several weeks but as there was no betting at the establishment they could not move against it just as authorities could not proceed against Pioneer offices although they knew the character of business conducted. White learned of the existence of the relay station through examination of Pioneer's records which revealed the firm paid rent on the Jefferson avenue premises.

50 ARE KILLED IN WORST PLANE CRASH IN BRAZIL

Constellation Hits High-Tension Wire, Plunges in Flames on Hill — American Aboard.

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 29 (UP)—Fifty persons, including an American, were killed last night in Brazil's worst airplane crash.

A Panair do Brazil four-engine Constellation struck a high tension wire and crashed in flames on a hill as it was coming in for a landing at Porto Alegre, 700 miles south of Rio de Janeiro.

The American killed was Ralph Motley, 48 years old, of Richmond, Ind., head of the Atlantic Refining Co. in Brazil, a long-time resident of this country. In addition, 24 men and 25 women, all Brazilians, were killed.

The company, an affiliate of Pan American World Airways, said the plane was on a routine flight from Rio de Janeiro to Porto Alegre. All the occupants, including seven crew members, were burned to death, Panair said.

First teams to reach the scene of the crash reported that the four-engined plane had broken in two, the forward part lying some distance downhill from the rest.

Official reports said the crash resulted from faulty radio contact between the plane and the control tower. The sky was overcast and visibility was poor. Field officials said the pilot messaged that he would not land because of the low ceiling, pending further instructions.

After that they could hear him asking for instructions but he apparently did not hear their responses. About an hour later, farmers 20 miles away saw the Constellation plow flaming into Dos Cabritos hill.

Eleven bodies were found among the twisted wreckage of the rear part of the plane and more were strewn around the forward half. Panair sent a plane from Rio de Janeiro to recover the bodies.

POLIO PATIENT WEDS, LEAVES HOSPITAL ON THE SAME DAY

Reinhold Stallmann, who was stricken with poliomyelitis last Sept. 28 when he was in his senior year at Concordia Seminary, had two causes for celebration yesterday. He was discharged after 10 months in the polio ward of St. Anthony Hospial, and he was married.

Stallman, who is 24 years old and whose home is in Bridgeton, N.J., met Miss Evelyn Fink three years ago when he was a student and she was a Sunday school teacher at Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church. She is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Fink, 7209 Lyndover place, Maplewood.

Although still confined to a wheelchair, Stallman is beginning to learn to walk again, practicing on parallel bars. He plans to re-enter the seminary next fall to continue his preparation for the ministry.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Training Children

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As a mother of five children, I propose a bill before Congress to offer, beginning this September, a course in military training for four years in high school for both girls and boys. The present raw deal to veteran reserves should be sufficient warning to this nation that the future will bring no reserve corps of suckers to protect this country's short-sighted, selfish, indifferent people and politicians.

During the first 100 years of this nation's existence, every man and most women had an intimate knowledge of the arms and methods with which they could adequately defend themselves, and the further knowledge that they might at any time be called upon to use them. They in turn educated their children accordingly.

Today, with the benefit of our complicated methods of warfare, which include the atomic and hydrogen bombs, and tremendous airpower, are we as prepared as our pioneer forefathers to defend the very principles upon which this country's strength is built?

Were we prepared today, Russia would not attempt her present camouflaged aggression. A boy who knows how to fight seldom needs to prove it. The same applies to this country. Make our schools teach our children how to stay alive.

MRS. MURIEL LITTMANN.

Advance With the Times

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

We need a new charter. As a working man, living in St. Louis since 1922, I have been keeping informed as to the advantages and benefits of this new charter. We are living in a new world, and we should advance with the times and not decay. No working man should vote against the new charter.

O. J. ANDERSON.

Combat Correspondent Beech

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Mr. Leonard Andes, who criticized Keyes Beech's reporting of the war, should understand that neither Keyes Beech nor any other correspondent is making any pretense of his own ability to lead troops. Beech's job is to report facts.

For the record, Beech was a Marine Corps combat correspondent at Tarawa and Iwo Jima; he served for several years in the Pacific. His present assignment is to comment as factually and intelligently as possible on the performances of those leaders—and their men.

Fright in combat, especially on the part of men thrown into it for the first time, is hardly a disgrace. But if its existence—or the existence of any other shortcoming in materiel or human quality—seriously impedes our Korean effort, such shortcoming should be reported openly and promptly. To conceal such disabilities, or to aid in painting an unwarrantedly optimistic picture of the campaign, would hardly represent a public service on the part of the Post-Dispatch.

I can assure Mr. Andes that Keyes Beech is a reliable, thoughtful reporter, and that he was a good Marine. And I join the Post-Dispatch in its apparent assumption that the American public can stare even unpleasant facts in the eye, learn from them, and without enervating distrust or emotionalism go on about the business of winning a war.

LARRY SCHULENBURG.

Note to Hoarders

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Attention you hoarders—you women who hoard these items we found short during the last war.

Are you mothers of sons who may be drafted for service? How much comfort can you get from your prized possions, when your boy may be out there somewhere doing without a lot of things, maybe his life? NON-HOARDER.

For the Voice of America

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I would like to suggest that the Post Office Department put out a stamp with a design depicting the Statue of Liberty and a radio tower in the background. This stamp would sell for a nickel—not as regular postage, but as a supplementary stamp in addition to regular postage.

All profits would be turned over to the Voice of America. This would give every red-blooded American the privilege of participating in the life and liberty-saving Voice of America. It would be a great way of saying, "We give our stamp of approval to this worthy and necessary project."

Democratic Teaching

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I would like to suggest the doing away with segregation in the schools. This would save money and mean lower taxes.

It would also do away with the need for police protection in places newly opened up to colored people. Because, if the children are educated together they would begin to know each other as human beings. They would not seem so strange to each other.

It would put into practice the democracy that all of our children are taught. Democracy then would become a real life experience.

NELLIE CARROLL.

Mobs on the Move

There are ominous signs of a wave of hysterical repression of liberty in recent actions of a few self-appointed extirpaters of Communism in the United States.

Police chiefs in Birmingham, Ala., and Knoxville, Tenn., took it upon themselves to jail or expel any Communists found within the city limits. This is easily said, but how is a police chief to decide just who is a Communist?

Birmingham made the problem simple by defining as a Communist anyone who "circulates or distributes any printed or written matter purported to have been issued by or over the name of such Communist party or any branch thereof."

Which means anybody, including the United States Post Office Department apparently, who hands a copy of the Daily Worker to somebody else, or who even passes along a document somebody thinks is Communist.

Nor was that all. Birmingham also decided that anybody is a Communist who is found "in a non-public place in voluntary communication with any person or persons established to be or to have been a member of such Communist party." This means that anybody who talks to Louis Budenz in Birmingham is a Communist, so long as it is not on the street, that is.

These definitions would be laughable, were it not for the fact that they permit persecution of anybody a policeman might not like. In the South, that is likely to mean anybody who looks upon Negroes as something other than beasts of the field.

And a Jackson, Miss., newspaper already has printed an editorial which virtually invited Southerners to kill representatives of the Communist-line Civil Rights Congress, because the Civil Rights Congress has taken up the cause of a Negro it believes unjustly convicted of rape.

Mob violence at its worst, without the slightest covering of law, occurred at a Maywood, Calif., plant of the Chrysler Corp. There Frank W. Zaffina, who announced that he was undertaking a "one-man crusade against Communism," incited fellow workers into beating four plant employes. They denied they were Communists, but their blood was spilled anyway.

And how much did Zaffina know about the men? He admitted afterward that he had not even known that two of them were World War II veterans. After the violence had been done, and Zaffina had thought it over, he said, "I guess it isn't right to take the law in your own hands."

It should not be necessary to keep repeating that statement to Americans, but, to our shame, apparently it is. Certainly Communism needs to be combatted, inside as well as outside the United States. But it should not be attacked by using the Communists' own methods of force and violence.

For when that happens, the mob rules. A malicious whisper; and the result can be a murder. And the experience of the past indicates that far more of the innocent than of the guilty are the victims. Any personal enemy can be disposed of simply by labeling him Communist. Any champion of an unpopular cause becomes a "Red."

Getting rid of Communism is far too serious a matter to be handled vigilante style. No mob, no single individual, can decide whether a man is a Communist. Indeed, Communism is not suppressed but breeds in the lawless atmosphere of the lynching party.

Whatever measures need to be taken against Communism, whether in peace, in war, or in a twilight stage in between, should be taken in an orderly manner, according to the dictates of the law and legal procedures. If violence triumphs over justice, democracy perishes.

Promising Congressman Defeated

The House of Representatives lost more than its youngest member when Hugo S. Sims Jr. of South Carolina was defeated in a run-off primary by Former Representative John P. Riley. It also lost one of its most able champions of the public welfare.

Representative Sims, a lawyer and newspaper editor, who had a brilliant war record as a company commander in the 101st Airborne Division, consistently supported foreign aid measures. He opposed the Kerr natural gas grab, the rivers and harbors and basing point bills. He favored rent control and provisions for loans to housing co-operatives.

On the long series of FEPC votes he sided with his Southern colleagues. But on practically every other issue he showed his measure by breaking away from the Dixiecrat obstructionists. His departure from Congress is a loss. Is it too much to hope that South Carolina will send him back at a later time?

Economy Up to Mr. Truman

Senator Douglas of Illinois, a generally pro-Administration Democrat, has been waging another battle to reduce appropriations, with no more success than he had last year.

For three weeks he tried to get the Senate to trim one item or another in the bill to authorize $34,600,000,000 in spending. Typical was the exchange over the Budget Bureau.

The House had cut $100,000 out of this bureau's requested appropriation. The Senate Appropriations Committee added $26,000, cutting the "trim" to $74,000. But, as thus trimmed, the bureau still received $112,000 more than it had received last year. And Senator Douglas' efforts to restore the $26,000 cut imposed by the House, so that the bureau's appropriation would be raised only $86,000, were overridden.

What the Senate did on this one small appropriation may not have major significance. The significant thing is that it acted the same way on item after item, relating to bureau after bureau. And when it came to the rivers and harbors section of the bill—the notorious pork barrel, which becomes less and less defensible as new military expenditures become necessary—the story was the same.

There was $731,000,000 in the pork barrel this year. Some of the projects were undoubtedly worthy. Some represented expenditures on projects already under way, and so could not readily be avoided. Yet it might have been expected that in view of the defense emergency the Senate would be willing to postpone some of the new projects, and slow down the rate of spending on others.

Nothing of the kind. Senator Douglas' motion to cut rivers and harbors funds by 60 per cent was defeated. A Republican motion to cut them by 50 per cent was defeated (Republicans Donnell and Kem of Missouri voting against it). A Douglas amendment to cut the funds by 40 per cent was defeated. A Republican amendment to cut them by 25 per cent was defeated. And finally, reductio ad absurdum, Senator Douglas' move to cut each item by $1 was defeated. It is now up to President Truman to show that somebody in Washington recognizes that the Korean crisis has outdated "spending as usual" along with "business as usual." Either by vetoing the appropriations bill, or by instructing his administrative agencies to postpone all postponable expenditures, he should make it clear that defense has a genuine priority.

A Valiant Son of Illinois

It is now a week since Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the Twenty-fourth Division, was listed as "missing in action" in Korea.

There is still time for this valiant officer to rejoin the American forces. For there is more than a chance that he is safely hidden somewhere among South Koreans in the mountains around Taejon, where he was last seen. But if he fell into the hands of the Red invaders they may have killed him on the spot, gleeful over their prize.

Whatever Gen. Dean's fate, he was a brave soldier and the country owes him and his soldiers a debt of gratitude. His division had the hard task of delaying and stopping, if possible, the Communist advance on the provisional capital after the fall of Seoul. Few of his troops were experienced but they were able to resist, even though overwhelmed by heavy odds in manpower.

Gen. Dean might have remained safely to the rear, observing and directing the American side of the battle. Instead, as an example of encouragement to other officers and to the G.I.s themselves, he personally led bazooka teams against the enemy. Shortly before he was cut away from other Americans, he was heard to shout: "I just got me a tank."

It was not the first time this red-headed infantryman was in a tough spot in combat. One of the divisions in the middle of the things at the Battle of the Bulge was his Forty-fourth. Such a commander is lost only at great cost. Yet, Gen. Dean, though he may not return, proved the value of courage and daring when those qualities were needed. For he helped produce order and a stronger defense at a critical time.

The United States Army can be proud of Gen. Dean. And his birthplace, Carlyle, some 40 miles east of St. Louis, in Illinois, may well look up to its brave native son.

Leopold Paralyzes Belgium

While the Atlantic Council deputies are engaged in the urgent task of blue-printing the West's defense against the Kremlin, Belgium is virtually paralyzed. Some 300,000 workers are on strike in Belgium's Walloon industrial belt, there were violent demonstrations against Leopold in Brussels.

Socialist Leader Paul Henri Spaak may have been influenced by his opposition to the king when he said that a revolution may be in the offing, but his warning nonetheless underlines the seriousness of the situation.

This is a ready-made opportunity for the Communists, who are undoubtedly exploiting the passions Leopold's return has aroused for all they are worth. The Reds are the principal, if not the only, gainers from this violent unrest.

Meanwhile, Leopold, whose abdication would go a long way toward quieting the disturbance, has doggedly refused to make known his future intentions. In a demonstration of the haughtiness which has estranged many Belgians from him, he has indicated only that he, not popular leaders of either side, will make the decision. Many non-Belgians will hope to see him renounce the throne in favor of his son. The free world needs Belgium's help.

For an Honest Count

There is one certain way for the Board of Election Commissioners to assure the citizens of St. Louis of an honest count of next Tuesdays' charter ballots. And that is by swearing in at least 200 special deputies, or so-called watchers.

Assigned to the river wards and other doubtful precincts, these watchers can make sure that the ballots are counted as they are marked. Watchers may not be absolutely necessary in some sections of the city. The Election Commissioners know well enough in which precincts election officials are most directly influenced by political organizations.

It is difficult to understand why the Election Board has not already moved to protect its own repute in this respect. Granted that the Aldermen left precious little time to prepare for the charter election, there is, nevertheless, still time enough to find the necessary watchers. The Citizens' Committee for the New Charter stands ready to furnish the rosters of such organizations as the Bar Association, the League of Women Voters and the Junior Chamber of Commerce from which the commissioners can select the required individuals. All that is needed is a little brisk work on the telephone.

The Election Board's offer to allow the Citizens' Committee to fill vacancies among election clerks and judges does not meet the situation at all. The committee properly refused to have anything to do with the handling of Republican and Democratic primary ballots. Further, such deputies could hardly be expected to serve in the precincts which really need watching. The wardheelers have a way of making sure that their precincts are covered. Roving deputies would be no help either.

Let's make this very plain: the friends of the charter do not want and should not have a hand in the conduct of the election. But watchers should be on hand in all doubtful precincts to check the counting of the charter ballots. And it is up to the Election Commissioners to make sure that they are.

It Seemed Like a Good Idea

Cynics will have their own explanation for the New Jersey policeman who was found delivering a sermon in a church at 4 a.m.

We prefer to believe his story—that he climbed in a window to look for prowlers, found none, became entranced with the pulpit, standing there before rows and rows of empty pews, and just decided to try making a speech. How was he to know that he was wired for sound, and that the loudspeakers would arouse the neighborhood?

We believe this story because there is a certain universality about it—the dread that many people have for making a speech, the secret ambition to make one, the sudden determination to seize an unexpected opportunity to see what it felt like. These things might have happened to anybody, especially at 4 a.m.

We hope that cop won't be disciplined. He should be rewarded with a prepaid night course in public speaking.

—From the Washington Post.

Missouri vs. the River Plan

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Gov. Smith's report on water policy viewed as hostile to all river development though Missouri would gain most in flood controls; entire program would be nullified, says newspaper, by theory that projects should be paid for by direct beneficiaries.

From the Kansas City Star

Of all the states in the Missouri basin, Missouri is the most resistant to river development under the Pick-Sloan plan. Considering that Missouri will receive the greatest flood control benefit this is a rather odd situation.

A large part of the state opposition is directed by government, especially the division of resources and development. But it reflects rather widespread sentiment among farmers, conservation leaders and others.

Forrest Smith

The official attitude was made quite clear by Gov. Smith's recent recommendations to the President's Water Resources Policy Commission.

The most extreme proposal called for a complete shift of policy to require the direct beneficiaries of river projects to pay for them. In theory this sounds reasonable. But the practical application is so complicated that it amounts to a plan of virtual nullification of the river program.

In the case of an ordinary levee or flood wall the theory of assessing full costs is obvious. The benefits are concentrated in one area. A case could be made to show increased value of the property as the result of flood protection.

Yet, even a local system is integrated with the whole river development. The height of a levee is determined by the storage capacity of reservoirs far up the river and its tributaries. Reasonable or not, the full assessment plan would stop most of the big levees and flood walls. The prudent people willing to pay would be at the mercy of short-sighted individuals who could usually block such a program.

The proposal for assessing the costs of reservoirs against beneficiaries is astounding. A reservoir on the Republican river might have some flood protection value to property at the mouth of the Missouri river. This plan suggests distributing the cost of each of various reservoirs over several thousand miles of river system. It could be done by a high-flown mathematical formula. But trying to make people pay benefit costs on such a theoretical basis is something else. It would take a lot of fast talking to convince a Missouri farmer that he should pay direct benefit taxes for a dam in North Dakota or Nebraska. It couldn't be done.

This proposal was simply the most damaging part of a generally hostile report. It can be explained only as opposition to all river development.

State Police and "Slots"

From the Illinois State Register

The heavy falling off in the number of slot machines, or "one-arm bandits," operating in Illinois is a direct result of the state-wide campaign against gambling in general and slot machines in particular.

State police raids ordered by Gov. Stevenson have frightened most of the "one-arm bandits" out of business. In the Springfield federal revenue district of 76 counties tax stamps for operation of gaming devices have been issued for 792 machines in 179 locations since the beginning of the present fiscal year, July 1. How rapidly tax renewals will be made after July remains to be seen. The total was 6851 in the Springfield district in the last fiscal year.

We suggest to the Governor and to the state police that a very simple plan be followed prior to more raids. Under the internal revenue code, specific provision is made that the Collector of Internal Revenue shall "place and keep conspicuously in his office, for public inspection, an alphabetical list of the names of all persons who shall have paid special taxes within his district, and shall state thereon the time, place and business for which such special taxes have been paid." Penalties are provided. In other words, the name of every person paying a tax to operate a slot machine, and the number of machines operated in each location, are a matter of public record.

It would, therefore, be a very simple matter for the state police, under instructions from the Governor, to obtain at reasonable intervals federal records showing where and how many gaming devices are operating in each county.

Notices of such operations in violation of the state law could then be given to sheriffs and state's attorneys in the respective counties with the warning that if local officials do not do their duty under the law, unannounced state police raids may follow.

The mere publication by the state police of such lists and public notices given to sheriffs and state's attorneys would doubtless remove the cause for police raids in most counties.

The making of secret raids by state police is a somewhat difficult and ponderous procedure which should be a last resort after the much simpler plan of public notice herein suggested had been applied.

Amigos in Texas

From The Fort Worth Press

Ignacio A. Pesqueria, Mexican Consul in Dallas, believes that there is less discrimination against Latin-Americans in Texas than there was a decade ago. We hope his optimism is justified.

A report from Houston the other day told of the financial triumph of one Pablo Rivera, a Rio Grande Valley farmer who beat competitors to the city with the season's first bale of cotton. The checks he has received for his exploit will total more than $2000. No economic discrimination there. The man who gets there fustest with mostest bale takes the prize, Latin-American or no.

Mr. Pesqueria advises all Latin-Americans in Texas to learn the English language. It's a good rule and it works both ways. More Americans should understand the Spanish tongue. We have a bilingual state here.

When Pablo Rivera brought that bale to Houston, a friend on his truck had to act as interpreter. It would have been much better if Pablo Rivera could have made his deal without assistance. But who knows how tough his economic struggle has been! A Latin-American farmer in the valley has to endure blood and toil and tears and sweat to further his economic interests.

Anyway, Mr. Pesqueria's proposal is still sound. The Latin-American who is a good citizen of his community is the kind of Latin-American Texas is proud of. Learn the language, amigos, and refrain from resenting the crude conduct of some Americans. An exquisite forbearance and patience is sometimes necessary.

Between Book Ends

A Timely Study

KOREA TODAY, by George M. McCune, with the collaboration of Arthur L. Grey Jr., an Institute of Pacific Relations book. (Harvard University Press, 372 pgs., $5.)

Robert Aura Smith in the New York Times.

The "today" in the above title should, of course, not be taken literally. This is an appraisal of the Korean situation as it was seen about six months ago. The current turn of events unfortunately makes some of it a misappraisal, but its background material is peculiarly timely. The author lived many years in Korea, was an official in the State Department and taught at the University of California. His manuscript, nine-tenths finished at his death in 1948, was completed by his wife and his assistant.

At this moment a better source book for all sorts of information on Korea could scarcely be found. For example, it includes 17 basic documents pertaining to Korea, most of which can be consulted with profit just now. Secondly, an appendix offers a splendid set of tables covering all sorts of facts and figures on what is Korea, North as well as South. There is, in addition, a formidable, comprehensive but extremely useful bibliography.

In writing this book, Mr. McCune obviously wanted to be entirely objective and historically impartial. But in the light of what has now happened, it will seem to many readers that in his eagerness to stand up straight he leaned rather well backward. Take, for example, the fact that there were abundant materials pertaining to South Korea but no possibility of first-hand observation in the North. This disparity has unhappily led to quite different treatment of the two areas. In the South every statement or report is subjected to the closest analysis in the light of all the observable facts. In the North the official statements are virtually accepted at face value.

The partition of Korea, which the author deeply resents and regretfully condemns, is attributed chiefly to the mistakes of American occupation policy and little to Soviet obstruction. There is no adequate picture of the profound frustration of the Americans as they tried, month after month, to find some basis upon which a free and united Korea could be set up. There is no adequate presentation of the fact that the Soviet Union was determined that a government for Korea was to be Communist only and that any compromise with that plan was totally inadvisable.

Novel of Early San Francisco

GOLDEN HERITAGE, by Francesca Falk Miller. (American House, 217 pgs., $2.75.)

A story of San Francisco in the early days just prior to and during the great rush of the Forty-niners should be as exciting as any happening in the frontier West and it is too bad the author does not take advantage of its dramatic possibilities to write what could have been a really great novel. Instead, Mrs. Miller contents herself with a minute portrayal of the sordid love affair of Damaris Walton, a not-too-prim New England school teacher and Emil Strom, a ne'er-do-well Frisco beachcomber. The affair is further complicated when Fanny O'Brien, a dance hall girl, tries to win Emil away from Damaris. The discovery of gold and the quickening of the Frisco tempo as a result is lightly touched upon.

After many misunderstandings and separations which keep the lovers as far apart as Boston and San Francisco, they meet again on the beach "and Emil, holding out his arms, took Damaris into them, his hunger satisfied at last."

ARMAND W. REEDER.

Another James Revival

WASHINGTON SQUARE, by Henry James. Introduction by Clifton Fadiman. (The Modern Library, 291 pgs., $1.25.)

Henry James' novel of the relationship between a rigid father and his naive, romantic daughter is, as Clifton Fadiman writes in his introduction, not unlike the story of Mr. Barrett of Wimpole Street. Published in 1881, it made into a good play, "The Heiress," and more recently a movie. Now it is back in book form.

ARMED FORCES EXPECTED TO SEEK MORE BILLIONS

This Would Be in Addition to 25-Billion Request Already Made to Congress, Vinson Says.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Representative Vinson (Dem.), Georgia, said today he "would not be surprised" if the armed forces ask for more money in the next 12 months, on top of the 25-billion-dollar request already on file with Congress.

Vinson, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, made clear that after hearing the mobilization plans of the three military services, he feels they are not building fast enough.

In his opinion, he said, their plans have "certain elements of conservatism."

Merely "First Increment."

He described as merely "the first increment" in America's rearmament program the present plan to have 2,089,000 men in uniform by June 30, 1951. There are now about 1,500,000 in service.

To help finance this increase, President Truman has asked Congress to add $10,500,000 to the armed services' 1951 budget of $13,294,000,000 in cash and $1,385,000,000 in contract authority which was tentatively approved by the Senate yesterday.

That brings the amount the military services say they need to run them until June 30 to about $25,179,000,000.

It was only seven months ago that Truman told Congress he could run the entire Federal Government until next midsummer on about $42,439,000,000.

Cautious on Inquiry Findings.

Vinson was cautious in discussing what his committee learned in its week-long closed-door inquiry, just concluded, into military needs, plans and progress.

He did say this much: "I would not be surprised to have the military services request increases."

It all depends, he added, on what happens in the international situation in the next few months.

Thousands Fail to Heed Orders To Report for Draft.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—Harassed draft officials, struggling to get Selective Service machinery into gear, reported today that thousands of men were failing to respond to their greetings from Uncle Sam.

In many cities across the country, a survey showed, at least one-fourth of the prospective draftees failed to show up for physical examinations.

In Portland, Ore., the rate of delinquency soared to 42 per cent. Eighty-two of the 191 men ordered up for physicals at Portland failed to keep the date.

However, officials said they doubted that many of the delinquents deliberately stayed away. They said that those who put in tardy appearances had a satisfactory explanation in almost every case.

Draft officials are using the same procedure in handling delinquencies. New induction orders are being sent out. The cases of men who still fail to show up will be turned over to the United States Attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation for investigation and "possible prosecution."

In New York, 329 of 1402 men ordered to report during the last eight days failed to do so. The Selective Service chief there blamed "the calendar, the weather, and the age of the individual."

"Some are no doubt vacationing and did't receive notice," he said. "Each case will be handled individually to ascertain whether the delinquent was merely careless or malicious."

BANNER AUDIENCE AT LITTLE SYMPHONY

More Than 2000 Attend Final Concert — Gari Shelton Is Soloist.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

The final Little Symphony concert of the season was played last night in Washington University Quadrangle to a banner audience of more than 2000. Max Steindel conducted a program that grew progressively lighter as the evening advanced and Gari Shelton, American pianist now living in St. Louis, contributed generously to the occasion by making two appearances as soloist.

Shelton's first performance with the orchestra was in the Mendelssohn G Minor Concerto, a work not favored too strongly by the big name artists but which, nevertheless, has many ingratiating qualities. His performance was on the fast side in both the opening and closing movements but except for a brief moment in the early stages, he didn't seem at all hurried. His execution had considerable facility and the main properties of the work—its fluent, light movement and its melodic geniality—were effectively communicated.

In his second number Shelton was chief accessory in Albert Ketelbey's "The Clock and the Dresden Figures." Musically speaking, this piece had about the weight and importance of Liadoff's "Music Box" or "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." The larger part of the audience obviously thought it was cute, for the applause that greeted its conclusion was so enthusiastic and determined that all hands were required to repeat a part of it.

Conductor Steindel led off with the Overture to Mozart's "Lucio Silla" an overture that has three sections somewhat in the style of the early French overtures. Steindel and his colleagues gave it a solid, muscular performance; and the attributes were apparent in Grieg's "Holberg" suite, a composition which in its outward aspects follows an early classic form. Open air performances always suffer a loss of nuance. The orchestra compensated for this by achieving an uncomomnly healthy sonority.

The listed program was closed with a performance of Johann Strauss' "Artist Life" waltz. The audience received it so well that "The Blue Danube" was added for good measure.

BARUCH CONTROLS ADVOCATES WIN TACTICAL POINT

the recess until Monday forenoon so he could prepare legal language to carry out the Baruch plan.

Opposing the recess were Maybank and Senator Robertson (Dem.), Virginia.

Baruch was quoted as saying that the priorities and allocation controls sought by the President "will not stop further price rises."

"Priorities and price controls are like Siamese twins," Baruch said in his conversation with Maybank.

"If priorities are necessary, then automatically price control becomes necessary. If demands are sufficiently large to justify the use of priorities, then they are sufficiently large to justify price controls."

Letter From Baruch.

Later, Maybank made public a letter from Baruch saying that "the very least" the committee should do is to include price control and rationing authority in the bill.

While he advocated letting the President decide "when these powers should be put into execution," Baruch said price controls will become "absolutely essential" as soon as the Government invokes other sections of the bill providing for allocation of industrial materials.

He said the Administration bill as it now stands "will not prevent further price rises" but the very enactment of a stand-by price control law "may deter" further boosts. The letter did not mention wage controls.

Meanwhile, Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he was "absolutely opposed" to the Baruch program. He said the policy committee felt the milder Truman program was too tough. Senator Taft will testify before the Senate Banking Committee Monday in closed session.

Capehart agreed that Baruch's plan is far too drastic for the present emergency. "They haven't proved to us that they (the controls) are necessary," he said.

Tentative Action.

Before voting a recess until Monday, the committee approved two sections of the bill tentatively. One would allow the President to require that defense contracts or orders be filled under top priority. It would also include authority to allocate materials and facilities for national defense. The other would allow the President to requisition any equipment supplies, materials or facilities.

The committee added a proviso that farms could not be requisitioned as "facilities" and wrote in a declaration that the powers in the bill should be used within the framework, so far as practicable, of "the American system of competitive enterprise."

Other amendments guaranteed that owners of seized plants would get them back and provided that seizure would be used only as a last resort.

In the House, Representative Hays (Dem.), Arkansas, said "many of us believe that the urgency is so intense that we must not clutter up the President's control bill with an argument about price-wage-ration controls."

Representative Kunkel (Rep.), Pennsylvania said he planned to push his fight for the Baruch proposals on the House floor. Kunkel reported a flood of messages supporting the Baruch plan. Senators Sparkman and Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota reported similar communications.

JINX AND TEX HERE TO INTERVIEW ST. LOUIS LEADERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Reagan McCrary Jr., better known as Jinx Falkenberg and Tex McCrary, were in St. Louis today as part of a whirlwind visit to nine widely-scattered American cities to gather proof for provincial New Yorkers that the rest of the United States is up and doing.

Jinx and Tex, a pin-up girl and journalist team, who conduct a syndicated column appearing in the Post-Dispatch and a radio program broadcast over an eastern network, have a crowded schedule of interviews with business, civic, political and academic leaders.

"We want to disabeus New Yorkers of the impression that they know all that's happening in the world," Jinx said.

Yesterday, in the studios of Post-Dispatch Station KSD, Jinx and Tex interviewed Washington University's Chancellor Arthur H. Compton, who made his own seating arrangements so he could "look at Jinx." They swapped opinions on the A-bomb, H-bomb, Korea and related subjects for an hour.

Today, Jinx and Tex had interviews scheduled with Fred Saigh, president of the St. Louis Cardinals; George Vierheller, director of the St. Louis Zoo; Paul Beisman, manager of the Municipal Opera; James S. McDonnell, president of the McDonnell Aircraft Corporation; Alvin Griesedieck, manager of the Falstaff Brewing Corp., and Morton D. May, manager of Famous-Barr's Clayton store.

MISS DOROTHY DOLAN DIES; COUNTY HOSPITAL DIETITIAN

Miss Dorothy Dolan, chief dietitian at St. Louis County Hospital for the last 10 years, died yesterday at Barnes Hospital after an illness of one month. She was 51 years old and lived at 7705 Stanford avenue, University City.

Miss Dolan, a past president of the St. Louis Dietetic Association, had been named president-elect of the Missouri Dietetic Association and would have taken office as president this fall. She was a past treasurer of the Group Action Council and a member of the Lindenwood College Evening Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club and Altrusa.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Thomas Dolan, and a sister, Miss Ruth Dolan, a teacher at Soldan-Blewett High School. The body will be at the Kriegshauser undertaking establishment, 4228 South Kingshighway, until 10 p.m. tomorrow. Funeral services and burial will be in Joplin, Mo.

ADOLPH H. WINHEIM ESTATE LISTS ASSETS OF $143,600

Assets of $143,600 and liabilities of $49,552 were listed in an inventory filed yesterday for the estate of Adolph H. Winheim, St. Louis chemist killed June 3 in an automobile accident near Washington, Ind.

Included as assets were: Stocks, $11,763, notes, $1650; accounts, $47; goods and chattels, $807; miscellaneous, $400; interest in Planetary Chemical Co., $82,532; interest in International Leathers Chemicals, Inc., $46,401. Winheim was head of the Planetary firm and vice president of the other company. Both are in Creve Coeur.

A petition to continue the business was filed yesterday by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Winheim, in probate court at Clayton where the inventory also was filed. Winheim was 44 years old and lived at 1111 North Berry road, Glendale.

TRUMAN REQUESTS SWIFT INCREASE IN STRATEGIC GOODS

President Calls for Reactivating Synthetic Rubber Plants, Merchant Vessels.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright, 1950.

WASHINGTON, July 29—President Truman late yesterday called for a swift increase in the stockpiling of strategic materials and of synthetic rubber production, and for the refitting of reserve merchant vessels.

The President also invited Democratic and Republican Congressional leaders to a White House conferenc Monday, presumably to outline plans for a greatly expanded program of foreign military aid.

Three separate announcements at the White House disclosed these steps by the President:

1. A message to Congress asking for a supplemental appropriation of $600,000,000 for the stockpiling of strategic and critical materials. If granted, this request plus authorizations recommended in the budget and authorizations approved before this year would make a total of $2,635,000,000 for the stockpiling program since the end of the last war. In addition, $865,000,000 in materials has been or will be acquired through transfers from the pre-war stockpile, war surplus and the European recovery program, the White House said.

2. A request to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that it take immediate steps to reactivate a sufficient number of plants to increase synthetic rubber production "as rapidly as possible to a rate of approximately 675,000 tons a year."

3. A message to Congress asking for a supplemental appropriation of $18,000,000 for the repair and reactivation of reserve merchant vessels.

The Department of Defense already has asked the Maritime Administration of the Commerce Department for activation of eighty-three ships in the reserve fleet. Because of the urgent need for these ships, their repair will be paid for out of defense department approporiations. The $18,000,000 will be for the refitting of additional ships.

D.S.C. FOR HEROIC CHAPLAIN, MAJOR KILLED IN ATTACK

TOKYO, July 29 (UP) — A major who was killed leading an attack with a pistol and bayonet, and a chaplain who is believed to have been killed when he stayed behind with the wounded abandoned in the face of a North Korean mass attack, were awarded Distinguished Service Crosses today.

Rev. Felhoelter.

A posthumous decoration was conferred on Maj. John M. Cook, whose wife resides in Columbus, Ga. He was killed near Taepyongni on July 16 when he led a counterattack, killing one North Korean with his pistol and bayoneting another.

Chaplain Herman G. Felhoelter, of Cincinnati, O., voluntarily stayed behind to give spiritual aid to wounded men who could not be evacuated in the face of an overwhelming night attack by superior North Korean forces on the Kum river north of Taejon. He is believed to have been killed.

Bronze Star medals were awarded to Cpl. Robert A. Pierce, of Hannibal, Mo., and Cpl. Elijah G. Johnson, (posthumously), of Fountain, Ark.

SCHOOL FUND BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The House Labor Committee yesterday approved a bill providing up to $150,000,000 for school construction in districts required to educate children of federal workers. The bill is a companion measure to one affording $35,000,000 a year for maintenance and operation of schools in such areas.

TIBET BORDER GUARDS KILL U.S. VICE CONSUL

Douglas S. Mackiernan Shot by Error When Fleeing From China Reds.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The State Department reported today that American Vice Consul Douglas S. Mackiernan was killed by Tibetan border guards while trying to escape from Communist-held northwest China across the Himalaya mountains.

The incident occurred last April 13 but today's announcement was the first public word of it. Mackiernan and his camel caravan apparently were mistaken for bandits or Communist raiders. The shooting was described as an accident.

The news was brought out of the isolated area by a native runner who took 27 days to reach Lhasa, Tibetan capital, officials said. It was relayed thence by radio to the State Department by way of New Delhi.

Meantime, the Tibetan Government has expressed apologies.

The sketchy report received here said two "natives" in the caravan were killed and one was wounded in the shooting. The only other American in the group, Frank Bessac, Lodi, Calif., escaped injury and is now en route to New Delhi.

Mackiernan closed the United States consulate at Tihwa, in isolated Sinkiang province, last Sept. 27, just before the city was turned over to the advancing Communists.

Accompanied by Bessac, who was on the scene as a research scholar, Mackiernan and three native servants set out on the 1200-mile trip across the lofty Himalayas.

They shifted from jeeps to horses and finally to camels when passes were blocked by winter storms. They spent months in a mountain village awaiting the spring thaws.

Vice Consul Robert Dreessen of St. Louis was one of three Americans who preceded Mackiernan out of Sinkiang. Consul General J. Hall Paxton and Mrs. Paxton were the other two. They made the trip in about six weeks.

During the long period when Mackiernan was missing, Chinese Communist radio broadcasts speculated on his whereabouts, hinting that he was organizing tribal resistance to the Reds.

SENATE UNIT OK'S BILL TO BAR DR. PIANETTO'S DEPORTATION

A bill to block deportation of Dr. Mario Juan Besso Pianetto, Koch Hospital surgeon, has been approved by a Senate judiciary subcommittee. The measure, sponsored by Senator James P. Kem (Rep.), Missouri, would permit the 40-year-old Argentinian to remain in the United States indefinitely, but would not grant him citizenship.

Dr. Pianetto entered the United States in 1941 on a student permit to study chest surgery here. In filling out a form at a St. Louis draft board in 1942, he requested deferment from military service on the ground he was a neutral alien. The physician later said he was not familiar with the English language, and had not understood that his exemption claim barred him forever from permanent residence or citizenship.

When the Immigration Service instituted deportation proceedings, professional associates and patients interceded in his behalf.

Men Wounded in Korea Happy As They Begin Flight for Home

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

By BERNARD KAPLAN

TOKYO, July 29 (INS)—Boys from the United States Twenty-fourth Division looked happy last night, even festive, if you can be festive from a litter.

They are the wounded men who bore the brunt of the fighting around Taejon and they are going home the best way the military has been able to devise.

At Tokyo's bustling Haneda airbase, the center runway was cleared for one after another of four big Army ambulances that lumbered through the dark, drizzling night. They unloaded their silent, uncomplaining cargoes into a C-97, the kind of a plane civilians call a Boeing Stratocruiser.

This is the first time a C-97 has been used for medical evacuation in the Pacific theater and it is the latest thing. The boys of the battered Twenty-fourth are getting the best, the kind of stuff they did not get in Korea.

Their C-97 was a crowded ship. There were 63 wounded aboard, victims of sudden, swift mortar and artillery fire, suffering mostly from arm and leg injuries. Together, they comprise the largest number ever moved in a wartime air evacuation.

The litters were strapped in four high along each wall of the big ship's pressurized cabin. They were also four high in the center lane.

The humid Tokyo night made the plane very warm, but these kids, some up to their waist in plaster casts, did not seem to notice the heat.

Sgt. James Connolly, one of the first placed aboard the plane by the ship's hydraulic lift, leaned on his one good arm quietly reading the Stars and Stripes. He was waiting to get started on the 6000-mile trip home. When he finished the newspaper, he opened good-natured banter with Sgt. First Class Robert Caldwell, the man at the bottom of his litter stack.

Pfc. Leopoldius Miller Jr., 19 years old, asked us to make certain his name got in both Oakland (Calif.) and Chattanooga (Tenn.) newspapers. Miller, a Negro, lives in Oakland but he was born in Chattanooga and he said:

"I still have people there. I'd just like them to see my name."

He said it did not make any difference if the newspapers mentioned his amputated left leg.

When the last evacuee was secured, the big plane roared off through the murky Japanese night. First stop will be Wake Island, then Hawaii and shortly thereafter San Francisco.

219 Yanks Tell of 3-Day, 30-Mile March Slipping Out of Red Trap

St. Louis Sergeant Says Trek Was 'Pretty Tough for Old Man of 35.'

By HAL BOYLE

A REGIMENTAL COMMAND POST IN KOREA, July 29 (AP)—"It was pretty tough for an old man getting on to 35," grinned the first sergeant, Ira Smith of St. Louis, Mo.

He was one of many leg-weary members of a cut off and surrounded American company to tell of their three-day, 30-mile march through North Korean lines to safety.

As they told the story of their trek through the hills below Yongdong, their officers were being briefed for an immediate return of the survivors to front-line duty. They got only 24 hours' rest.

The unit—including the Fox Company of the First Cavalry Division and attached members from a heavy weapons company—was isolated last Monday southwest of Yongdong.

"To get out we had to engage in two fire fights, ford five streams and cross eight mountains," said Lt. George Hartnell of Lincoln, Ill., a platoon leader.

Carried Wounded With Them.

"We lost four dead and four missing—and we got out with 219 men. We had eight wounded and we are proud we brought every one of them out with us. One soldier we brought out was stricken with acute appendicitis during the march," Lt. Hartnell said.

Its food and ammunition used up, the company had only a meal and a half during the three-day ordeal.

The rations were dropped to them by Cub planes used as fire-spotters by the artillery.

Many of the soldiers said their escape would not have been possible except for the resourceful leadership of their strapping six-foot company commander, Capt. Terry Feild of Little Rock, Ark.

Not a "Lost Company."

"Don't call us the lost company," Feild said. "We weren't lost. We knew where we were going. It just took time to get there. And we came out still intact as a fighting force. It was a rough deal, but the men are in good spirits."

"Guess we have blisters on the top of our toes from going downhill and blisters on the bottom of our toes from going uphill," said Capt Harold Van Ness, Biscoe, N.C.

Officers said that without the food, plasma and maps dropped from the air, many men would have lacked the strength to finish their journey.

The struggling column, harassed by guerrilla fire, made contact with the artillery spotter planes as a result of unusual G.I. battlefield ingenuity.

Young Cpl. Wyatt Grimmett of Landsville, W.Va., stripped one of 11 tanks knocked out in fighting of its radio. He carried the 45-pound set on his back across several mountains. Wednesday morning he tied a piece of camouflage wire from his helmet onto a bayonet and stuck the bayonet high into a tree. Over this improvised antenna the appeal for help was broadcast.

Appeal Is Heard.

Back in headquarters Pvt. Herbert Lublesky of Brooklyn, N.Y., happened to be fiddling with a radio he also had scrounged from a disabled tank. He heard the appeal.

Within an hour, Cub planes were circling over the foot-sore company with fresh supplies.

At 5 p.m. Thursday, Capt. Ralph W. Caither of Oklahoma led a detail from headquarters that reached the worn men between Yongdong and Kumchon and guided them the rest of the way.

"Boy, they looked like angels to us," said Pfc. Jack Martin of Jacksonville, Fla.

Capt. Richard L. Cohen of Philadelphia, a battalion officer attached to the company, said:

"On Monday we had two battalions engaged southeast and southwest of Yongdong. There was a 16-mile gap in our lines. Before we could counterattack to close it the Reds broke through early in the morning.

"We were about out of ammunition and we had had only a can of beans here and there for a day and a half. That night we were ordered to break through a roadblock between us and the rest of the battalion which was driving back toward Yongdong."

The company jumped off at 4 a.m. Tuesday in an attempt to break through the roadblock between it and Yongdong.

U.S. Tanks Knocked Out.

"We ran into a brisk 10-minute fire fight. We hit really strong enemy positions in a mountain pass. They were waiting for us with mortars, dug-in field guns and machine guns. We fought for an hour and a half. Seven of 11 tanks with us were knocked out. The other four managed to crash through.

"We climbed over a ridge and reorganized under heavy mortar fire. We knew that we were cut off. And from the mountain top, Capt. Feild saw that Yongdong was being shelled and we couldn't get out that way. So we decided to make a wide sweep through the hills and we knew it would be a long, hard trek, particularly as we had six walking wounded and two litter cases.

"We were trailed by organized North Korean patrols who knifed steadily at us as we crawled across rice paddies in the valleys. Because we had been forced to destroy our heavy weapons we avoided large guerilla bands. Our sole concern by then was to get back with as large a fighting force as possible so we could fight again."

The men drank water from the streams. The Cub plane food drops gave them energy to push on Wednesday.

"We found a young native villager to guide us over two ridges during the day. South Koreans helped carry the litter cases and assisted our walking wounded.

"But it was the food drops that saved us. They gave the men morale. If it hadn't been for them we would have had to break up into groups—and I don't know how many would have made it."

'ALL HELL HAS BROKEN LOOSE,' SAYS ST. LOUIS SERGEANT WRITING HOME

MASTER SGT. IRA SMITH, a brother of Mrs. Bessie Goergens, 3319A Iowa avenue, had been stationed in Japan for 18 months before being sent to Korea about two weeks ago.

In a letter from Tokyo dated July 14, he told Mrs. Goergens: "I can't write much. I'm in a hurry. All hell has broken loose over here. I'm packing now, it looks like I'll be in it soon."

Smith enlisted in the Army when he was 18 years old. In World War II, he served with the Second Armored Division in North Africa, Sicily and Germany. Mrs. Goergens said he asked for a transfer to Japan because he disliked being stationed at a camp in Arkansas.

CLOSING TOMORROW FOR TWO CATHOLIC CHURCHES IN CITY

The Catholic churches of the Annunciation, Sixth and LaSalle streets, and Our Lady of Good Counsel, Fourteenth and Destrehan streets, will be closed permanently after masses tomorrow.

The last mass at Annunciation Church will be at 11 a.m. The only mass at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church will be at 7 a.m.

Decision to close the churches was made because the parish districts have become highly industrialized, reducing the number of parishioners greatly, a spokesman for the Catholic chancery said. Schools in the two parishes were closed several years ago.

A new parish recently established at Glendale road and Elm avenue, Webster Groves, will assume the name of Annunciation Church. The name of the other church will be given to a parish to be established soon. Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter has not decided what will be done with the structures of the closed churches.

The Annunciation Church was dedicated Dec. 16, 1859. It was reported to be the first Catholic Church in St. Louis whose sanctuary had marble altars, stained glass windows and fresco work on the walls. The structure cost about $100,000. The parish of Our Lady of Good Counsel was established in 1895.

MRS. MARY ASTOR ALLEZ DIES; AIDED IN FRENCH RESISTANCE

PARIS, July 29 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Astor Paul Allez, president of the American Aid Society of Paris, died yesterday at the age of 61.

She was the wife of Jacques Allez and formerly was married to Charles Munn of Philadelphia. She played an important role in the French resistance movement during World War II under the code name of "Pauline." The French decorated her as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

LOS ANGELES, July 29 (AP)—Dr. Victor Stork is retiring from the baby business. A pediatrician here for 39 years, Stork was honored yesterday by fellow physicians, who gave him a wristwatch.

KOREAN WAR PART OF PEACE DRIVE, MRS. F.D.R. SAYS

HARTFORD, Conn., July 29 (UP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says the Korean war is "part of a great, real peace offensive."

But the wife of the late President warned in her keynote address opening the Democratic state nominating convention last night that the world will not have peace "if we trust only in force alone."

"We can't win with just military force," she said. "The point 4 program is important in mobilization for peace. People have to have hope and have to see that someone is helping them to take steps up."

Mrs. Roosevelt said the United States is fighting not because the nation intended to, "but because the United Nations had to be saved. The fact that a principle was at stake meant we had to act."

FRANCE, BRITAIN INSIST U.S. CHANGE FORMOSA POLICY

Survey of Smaller Nations Also Indicates No Support in a War With Red China.

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1950.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

PARIS, July 29—France, Britain and the smaller countries of western Europe are now openly insisting that the United States should revise its policy toward Formosa.

Survey of official opinion of all these countries supports earlier reports from Lake Success and Washington that the United States might find itself acting alone, possibly in defiance of the United Nations, if it actually went to war with Red China following a Red invasion attempt against Formosa.

These countries all agree that the United States acted correctly, if not wisely, in going to the defense of South Korea. They take an entirely different view of our decision to defend Formosa and they have not hesitated to say so from the first.

Now, when actual Red invasion of Formosa seems a possibility, following Communist successes in Korea, they have come to the point of rebuking us for that decision. They ascribe our decision to the sudden acceptance of the MacArthur policy as opposed to the carefully thought-out official policy under which he had planned to write off both Korea and Formosa. They recognize that both President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson have had to listen to Congress, which is opposed to recognition of the Communist Chinese Government, but they criticize the President and the Secretary of State for letting themselves be steered into a blind alley by congressional influence.

The only policy to pursue in regard to Communist China, they all believe, is to recognize it and try to make the best of it, and they view with horror the possibility of outright war between ourselves and China. They say we should abandon or modify our decision to defend Formosa, no matter how hard it is to do so.

There are, of course, many solid arguments in favor of refusing to recognize the Chinese Communist Government which is openly opposed to American ideals and interests and will use the period of truce with the United States only to reinforce its position for the future struggle with capitalism. There is, consequently, much to be said in favor of telling the British, French and everybody else that this is our position and that they are expected to support us in it. But the fact remains that this may isolate us in event of war over Formosa.

DEATH OF EVERETT W. SWAIN

Funeral services for Everett W. Swain, regional manager of the Underwood Corp., will be Monday afternoon at Webster Hills Methodist Church, South Berry and Lockwood roads, Webster Groves. Mr. Swain was 50 years old and died yesterday of complications at Barnes Hospital. He lived at 113 West Clinton place, Kirkwood.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bertha A. Swain, a son, Ross Swain, and a daughter, Miss Marilyn Swain. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Hot Giants Make Pygmies of Cards Who Drop 2 1-2 Games Behind Phils

Hurling Curdles Again; 8 in Row for Lip's Crew; Jansen Captures No. 11

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

NEW YORK, July 29—The Cardinals forgot to give their staggering pitching staff savage batting support last night, and it was a dastardly oversight because the Redbirds again lost ground to a Philadelphia club whose hurlers aren't nearly so demanding.

Eddie Dyer's hitters had manufactured runs at better than seven a contest over an eight-game period, but they ran onto a tough pitcher on one of his best nights. And because the Cardinals' pitching was cuffed again, Larry Jansen and the Giants breezed home with an 8-3 victory that dropped the runner-up Redbirds two and one-half lengths behind the Phillies.

The triumph was the eighth straight for Leo Durocher's athletes, now riding merrily along on the National League's longest winning streak of the season, and the explanation offered by The Lip and less-biased New York observers was what you would expect.

New-Found Hurling Does It.

"Whitey Lockman's return to the outfield has helped," they all say, "but mainly it's improved pitching that has enabled the Giants to move up. Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn have come along to give Jansen and Dave Koslo a lift."

Col. Dyer, an old lefthander who knows all about the importance of pitching, has agreed with Durocher and others enthusiastic over the recent showing of the New York Nationals. Even before former Mexican jumping-bean Maglie and former Redbird bench-warmer Hearn joined forces with Polo Grounds' reliables, Dyer picked the Giants to finish fifth.

If New York continues to get that first-rate hurling, the first-division ambition might be realized, after all, just as the Cardinals' staff probably would need a pick-up in performance to keep the Redbirds within whistling distance of the league lead.

Over the last nine games, to illustrate, the Cards' attack has provided 61 runs, but the club has lost five of those contests because the opposition tallies were 62, or an average of seven, too. Moreover, in only three of their last 16 starts have Redbird pitchers restricted the enemy to as few runs as Jansen allowed last night, and not once over that period has the foe scored under three.

Over the most recent 21 games, Dyer has used 56 pitchers, an average not far shy of three a contest even when four start-and-finish chores are included. And the Colonel attempted again last night to vary his assignments without success.

Dusak Goes to Pieces.

When Alpha Brazle was lifted with the Cardinals three runs behind in the sixth inning, but still in the game, Dyer gave Erv Dusak, the converted outfielder, his most important assignment as a reward for outstanding mop-up work in games definitely gone. The manager had his misgivings because of Dusak's questionable control, but Erv had put the ball over with nothing at stake and, as a result, had earned a chance to try with a game still within redemption.

Handing out an intentional pass to fill the bases, the hard-firing Dusak then failed miserably, forcing in three runs by walking a batter, hitting another and passing a third. And, if you were manager of the Redbirds, just where would Oiving stand now?

With the Giants' lead increased to a robust six runs, Dyer trotted out Ted Wilks for a second try, and The Cork's results were much more pleasant than in his first post-operative appearance against Broklyn 13 days ago, though the barrel-chested relief ace of other seasons still didn't seem to be firing the ball with the speed or abandon of the past.

Anyway, the Giants didn't score again. Wilks threw a double-play pitch to Bobby Thomson, ending the sixth, and in the seventh he yielded a single to Monte Irvin and hit Alvin Dark on the shoulder with a wild delivery before picking Irvin off third to end the frame.

Fred Martin, pounded so often in costly relief calls that he had been demoted deeper into the bullpen, came on to work an orderly eighth.

No. 11 for Jansen.

By contrast to the continued St. Louis pitching confusion, which enabled the Giants to get full mileage off nine hits, five walks, two hit batsmen and the first of two Redbird errors, Jansen hurled with the skill and control of a master. The rangy New York righthander, hitting his first major league homer while gaining his eleventh victory, yielded nine hits, but he walked none and struck out six.

Rain delayed the game 40 minutes and held attendance to 12,927.

NEW YORK, July 29—The Cardinals batted against Jim Hearn, an old teammate, in the second game of their series with Leo Durocher's New York Giants at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Hearn had won two games since being sold by the Redbirds to New York, one of them a five-hit shutout victory over the Cubs.

Howard Pollet, seeking his eleventh victory of the season, was the Cardinal hurler. Against the right-handed Hearn, Rocky Nelson played first base and was lead-off man in the St. Louis batting order.

The play-by-play:

FIRST INNING—CARDINALS—Nelson walked. Schoendienst hit into a double play, Irvin to Dark to Irvin. Musial singled to right. Slaughter grounded out to Stanky.

GIANTS—Stanky singled to left. Lockman singled to center, sending Stanky to third. Thomson flied deep to Howerton, Stanky scoring. Westrum singled to left, Lockman stopping at second. Irvin forced Westrum, Marion to Schoendienst, Lockman taking third. Mueller grounded to Marion, whose throw to Schoendienst was late, Lockman scoring and Irving reaching second on the fielder's choice. Dark flied to Musial. TWO RUNS.

Fires Ace and Deuce On Same Round, but Loses Golf Tourney

Rich Butler, 16 years old, fired an ace and a deuce in the Westborough Country Club junior and juvenile golf tourney, but did not win the event. Butler had a hole in one on No. 8, which measures 96 yards, while his deuce came on No. 16.

However his other scores did not measure up and he finished with 156 to 150 for Jack Brooks for the 36 holes.

Other winners: Carol Baker, junior girls, 132 for 27 holes; Ronnie Rosser, juvenile boys, 125 for 27 holes; Ann Lundigan, juvenile girls, 109 for 18 holes; Barbara Reese, 149 for 18 holes in 12-year-old girls; and Allan Morrison, 160 for 27 holes in the 12-year-old boys.

Missouri Badminton Title Tourney Opens Tuesday

Fred Moehlman Jr., three-time titleholder, will defend his men's singles championship in the fourteenth annual Missouri outdoor badminton tournament beginning Tuesday at the Manhassett Village courts, Eager road and Brentwood boulevard.

The tournament is scheduled to run through Wednesday and Thursday and additional days, if necessary.

Virginia Smith, also a three-time winner, will be the title defender in the women's singles play. With her husband, Russell Smith, she also will defend the mixed doubles title.

Gantner Seeks Another Leg on Speedboat Cup

Holcomb Team Wins In State Title Meet

SEDALIA, Mo., July 29 (AP)—Eddie Simpson's ninth inning home run with a mate aboard last night gave the Holcomb Cardinals a 7-6 win over the Jefferson City Redbirds in the Missouri semi-pro baseball tournament.

Arthur Mueller, Redbird first baseman, got a double, triple and a home run to lead the Jefferson City hitting. The victory was Holcomb's third against no losses. The Redbirds now have a 2-1 tourney record.

Schlemmer Is Named Mt. Vernon Manager

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., July 29 (AP)—The Mount Vernon club of the Mississippi-Ohio Valley league announced yesterday the appointment of Bob Schlemmer of Akron, O., as player-manager. He succeeds Benny Meyers, resigned.

The club, independently owned by local fans, is in last place in the class-D league.

Detroit's Lead Shrivels to Half Game in American League

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The panic is on in the American League. Detroit's lead, shriveled to a half game, is melting before the charge of New York and Cleveland.

With the Tiger pitching folding and the Yanks and Indians clashing home runs, the American jumble now is tighter than the National.

Detroit still is on top. But how much longer can they hold on? Although they braced against Boston Thursday, they bowed to Philadelphia, 7-6, last night. Now they have lost six of their last eight.

Vic Wertz hit his seventeenth and eighteenth homers against the A's but even that wasn't enough. A two-run spurt in the ninth on Elmer Valo's single, Sam Champman's triple and an infield out gave the A's the win over reliefer Hal White.

While this disaster befell the Tigers, the Yanks hammered out a 4-1 edge over Chicago on homers by Hank Bauer and Phil Rizzuto and tight six-hit pitching by Allie Reynolds.

Al Rosen, never considered a threat to home run honors, hit his twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth for Cleveland in the Tribe's 13-1 ramble over Boston. Rosen now leads the majors, one ahead of Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, sidelined by a sore back.

Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Joe Gordon smacked one homer each as the Indians climbed all over Maurice McDermott, Jim McDonald and Dick Littlefield. It was Doby's first appearance since he was hit by a pitched ball Monday night in an exhibition at Brooklyn.

The National League race was shoved into the background by the rain-interrupted struggle between Chicago and Brooklyn that was not finished until 12:23 a.m. (St. Louis time), almost five hours after it started. Chicago won, 12-5, leaving the Brooks in fourth place, five games off the pace.

To add to the confusion, the Cubs lost a run in the fifth because Carmen Mauro batted out of turn. The lineup that Manager Frankie Frisch gave the P.A. announcer didn't jibe with the one coach Spud Davis gave the umpires.

Bonus Bob Miller, the Phils rookie sensation, boosted the National League leader's margin to two and a half games with a 4-1 win over Pittsburgh. It was Miller's ninth success.

Ewell Blackwell, with the fine relief help from Frank Smith, beat Boston for the first time this season, 8-5. An 11-hit attack on Bob Chipman, Ernie Johnson and Norm Roy helped Cincinnati snap a four-game losing streak. Blacky had a shutout until the eighth when Earl Torgenson sparked a four-run rally with a homer with two on.

Australia Needs One Victory to Win Cup Series

MEXICO CITY, July 29 (AP)—Australia needed only one more victory over Mexico today to clinch the American Zone Davis Cup Tennis Championship, and the crack doubles combination of Frank Sedgman and Jack Bromwhich was heavily favored to turn the trick.

The two top Australian players were matched against Mexico's Vega brothers, Armando and Rolando, in the third contest of the internationl tennis series at the Chapultepec Sports Stadium.

After giving Australia a 2-0 lead over Mexico with surprisingly-easy victories in the opening singles contests yesterday, Sedgman and Bromwich were expected to have little trouble in the doubles competition.

Sedgman whipped Mexican champion Gustavo Palafox in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2, while the 31-year-old Bromwich handily downed Armando Vega 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

Sweden Leads Denmark, 2-0.

BAASTAD, Sweden, July 29 (UP)—Torsten Johansson and Sven Davidsson gave fovored Sweden a 2-0 lead oved Denmark in the opening matches of the European Zone Davis Cup final.

Johansson beat Torben Ulrich, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, and Davidsson followed with a 7-5, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 upset triumph over Danish Ace Kurt Nielsen. Davidsson was a last-minute replacement for Lennart Bergelin, Sweden's No. 1 player, who was reported to have suffered a spinal injury.

The winner fill meet the winner of the current Australia-Mexico series for the right to challenge the cup-holding American team at Forrest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 25-27.

Browns Snatch Another Game in Ninth; Bruner Shines as Relief Man

By Dent McSkimming

No baseball victory is quite so satisfying as the one that's gained in the ninth inning. So, the Browns are very happy about their two straight ninth-inning conquests, one over the second-place Yankees and the other over the fifth-place Senators.

And to make the 5-4 triumph last night more notable, it was scored by a rookie pitcher, Jack Bruner, a recent White Sox castoff. Bruner was the hero of the evening. He rescued a faltering Harry Dorish in the fourth inning with two men on base and one out. The Senators were leading, 3 to 2. He started nervously, walked the first man to face him, filling the bases, and then retired the side.

During his five and two-thirds innings, the little lefthander held the Senators to one hit, a home run by Mickey Vernon that tied the score at 4-all in the seventh. Then, to open the Browns' ninth he coaxed a walk that started the winning rally.

Sharing honors with Bruner were Roy Sievers and Billy Sommers, each of whom batted in two runs with a double, and Ken Wood whose single drove Don Lenhardt with the winning run in the ninth.

Zack Plays It to Hilt.

Bruner was actually out of the ball game when he became the winner. He was replaced by a pinch runner, Jim Delsing, when he reached second base on Lenhardt's bunt. Manager Zack Taylor reluctantly removed the youngster in favor of a more rugged, more experienced base runner. He represented the winning run and if he had been thrown out at third base, or at the plate, then second-guessers would have wondered why no pinch runner was used.

Actually, Delsing was forced at third base when Pinch Hitter Ned Garver grounded into a double play, but Manager Taylor had played the percentage right down to the fractions. And, in the end, he won the ball game on Ken Wood's only hit of the night.

Bruner's victory was his first of the season. He achieved excellent results with a curve, striking out four batters, to overcome his tendency toward wildness. In the eighth inning, that lack of control got him into trouble. He walked Mickey Grasso and Pinch Batter Roberto Ortiz and they were sacrificed to second and third by Eddie Yost. But, never relaxing in the pinch, Bruner retired Gil Coan and Irv Noren on grounders to Don Lenhardt to end the inning. Lenhardt made a thrilling play on Noren's bad hopper.

The skinny left-handed proved his quality immediately. As soon as he had retired the Senators in the fourth, to end their two-run inning, Bruner told Manager Taylor he thought he needed a few more tosses in the bullpen. He knew that base on balls to Coan had almost wrecked him. So, instead of taking his seat on the bench, as is customary between innings, he hustled down to the left field corner and worked out with Coach Earle Brucker.

His Perseverance Works.

When it was time to pitch again, in the fifth inning, his control was better. He did walk Cass Michaels, but he got Sam Mele on a pop to Snuffy Stirnweiss and Sam Dente on a fly to Dick Kokos. Then he fanned Grasso for the third out. The ninth was his best inning. There he struck out Vernon, got Mele on a line drive to Kokos and finished up by striking out Michaels.

Even considering the fact that Washington is not one of the better hitting clubs in the league, this performance by Bruner may be taken as a very good sign. Prior to last night he had pitched only eight innings for the Browns, had allowed five hits and one walk. With the White Sox he had worked 16 innings and had given up 15 hits.

Harry Dorish, who had defeated the Senators four times, was off to a bad start in his battle with Lefty Bob Kuzava. He gave up six hits in three and one-third innings. Kuzava was effective when he got the ball over the plate, but the Browns wisely waited him out and he gave seven passes.

This afternoon, starting at 2:30 p.m., it will be Clarence Marshall (1-1) for the Browns against Sandalio Consuegra (4-2) for the Senators.

Manager Taylor will use Stubby Overmire and Ned Garver against the Senators in the Sunday double-header.

Two thrilling outfield catches robbed Sievers and Mele of base hits. Noren came in fast to make a tumbling grab of Sievers's low liner in the seventh, and Kokos turned an even more spectacular one-hand catch of Mele's drive in the ninth.

Paid attendance was 2952.

LeBrun Shows Speed In Tuneup for Riley

Leo LeBrun, French-Canadian featherweight from Montreal, displayed speed and a powerful body attack as he worked three rounds with Clarence Harbin yesterday afternoon. LeBrun and Harbin will mix again today as they prep for their fights on the program at the North Side Sports Arena next Monday night.

Off his showing against Harbin, LeBrun appears to have enough speed and power to give Charley Riley a good fight when they meet in the 10-round main event.

Riley is scheduled for a final heavy workout today after a lengthy drill yesterday.

The card was completed yesterday when Bob Keeling was signed as Harbin's opponent in the four-round opener.

Joe Louis Returning for at Least Two Fights, His Trainer Says

Roadwork Beginning Tomorrow

WEST BADEN, Ind., July 29 (UP) — Former Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis didn't come back to the ring for just one fight his trainer, Mannie Seamon, said today.

"He's back for at least two fights," Seamon said. "He'll have to be. He can't just fight one fight and quit again. It might be for a lot of fights. He'll have to keep fighting."

James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced yesterday that Louis, one of the I.B.C. directors, would return to the ring in September to fight either Ezzard Charles or Lee Savold.

"It don't make no difference to Joe which one he fights," Seamon said. "After he fights one, then he'll fight the other. And he'll keep on fighting until there isn't anybody else left."

Joe to Go on the Road.

Seamon, ready to direct Louis's campaign to return to fighting condition, said he expected Joe to start daily roadwork of two to three miles this Sunday. Eventually, he said, he'll run from five to seven miles a day.

In addition he expected Louis would play golf, pitch horseshoes and do some "relaxing exercises to stretch the ligaments."

Joe's not sluggish," Seamon said. "He can't be, all the exhibitions he's been fighting. The exhibitions did him a lot of good, physically and mentally. He knows he's just as good as ever and that's why he's ready to come back and fight."

"He was just as good as ever when he fought those guys those exhibitions, too. I never saw him look better," Seamon said.

Seamon said Louis would remain at West Baden a little over three weeks, then go to Pompton Lakes, N.J., for his training camp to prepare for a September fight in New York. If the fight should be scheduled for Chicago, Seaman said, the camp would be located somewhere near Chicago.

Why the Bomber Returns.

Louis decided to return to the ring for two announced reasons, to obtain money to pay his overdue income taxes and to help the government "get admission taxes" on the fight. He estimated the September bout would produce over $100,000 in admission taxes, indicating a gross gate of around $400,000.

Norris said Louis also wanted to straighten out the confusion of the heavyweight championship which resulted from his retirement. Presently Savold is recognized as the European champion, Charles is recognized as world champion by the National Boxing Association, and the New York Boxing Association does not recognize a champion other than Louis.

Harry Markson, managing director of I.B.C., said the New York Commission would recognize a Louis-Charles bout as for the world title. European organizations would recognize the winner of a Louis-Savold bout as world champion.

Thus Louis, by scoring victories in two bouts, could return the heavyweight championship to a single individual.

Walcott Says He Deserves First Crack at Joe Louis.

FRANKFURT, July 29 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott has demanded the first chance at Joe Louis in the Brown Bomber's comeback campaign.

"If Louis is going to try to come back, he ought to have to prove his right to fight the champion by fighting the logical contender first—and that's me," said Walcott.

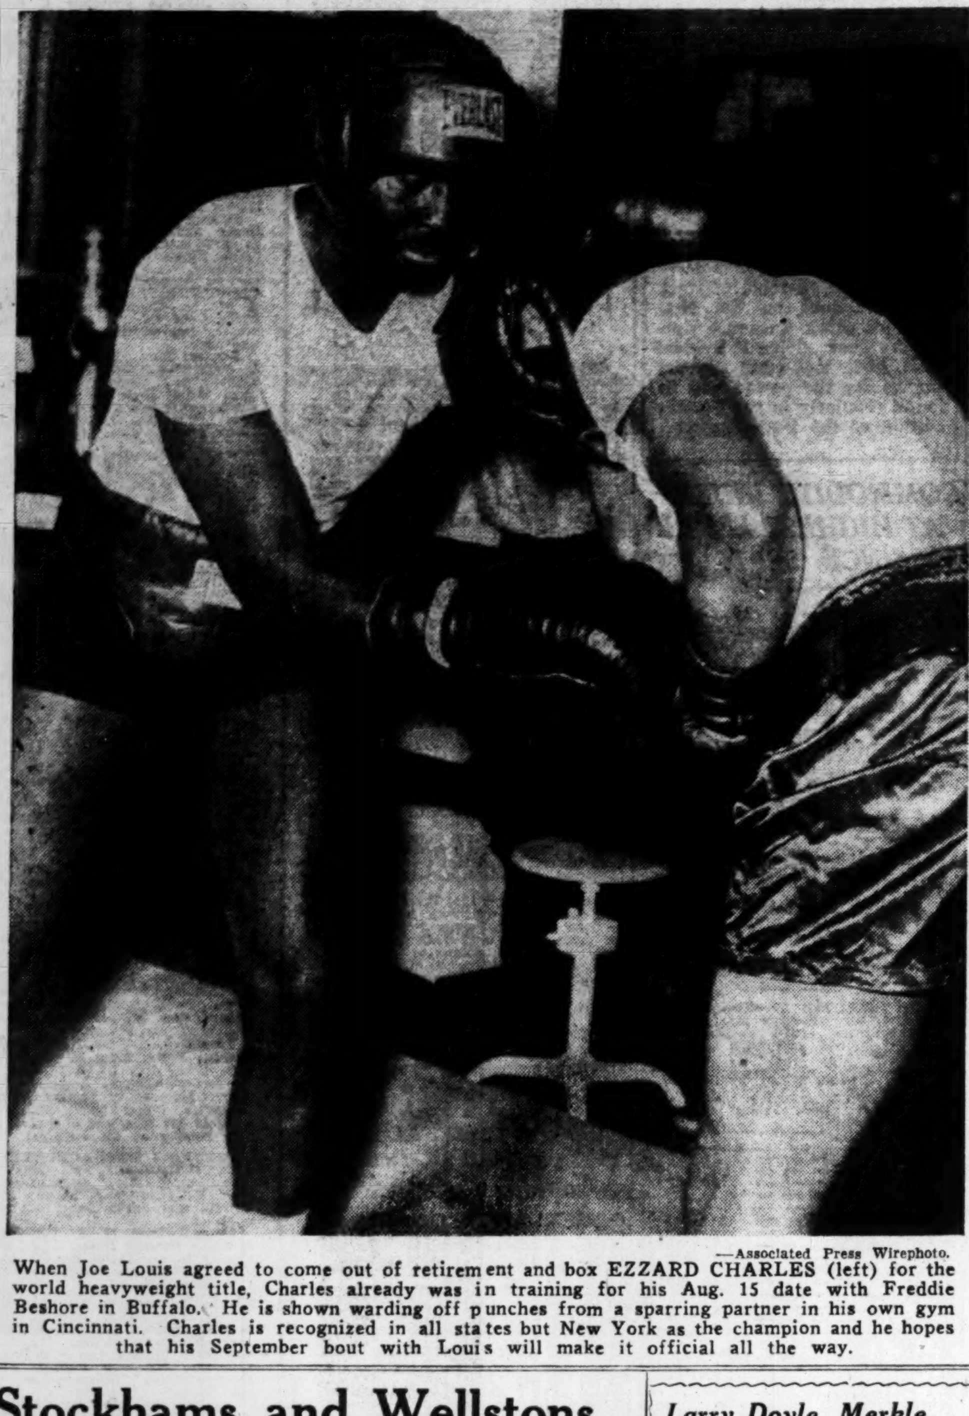
"I fought Louis twice and I definitely whipped him the first tim., even though I didn't get the decision.

"And I think I can whip him again.

"Just because Louis retired as champion is no reason why he should be allowed to jump over the whole field of active contenders and start right off with a championship match.

"While Louis has been in retirement I have been boxing actively and I've earned another shot at that title."

He'd Like to Make It Official



—Associated Press Wirephoto.

When Joe Louis agreed to come out of retirement and box EZZARD CHARLES (left) for the world heavyweight title, Charles already was in training for his Aug. 15 date with Freddie Beshore in Buffalo. He is shown warding off punches from a sparring partner in his own gym in Cincinnati. Charles is recognized in all states but New York as the champion and he hopes that his September bout with Louis will make it official all the way.

Stockhams and Wellstons Meet for Right to Play Cape Team in Legion Final

By John J. Archibald
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, July 29—With the host Cape Girardeau nine sitting in the driver's seat, the St. Louis area's two representatives in the Legion baseball zone tournament—Stockham and Wellston—meet again here this afternoon and the loser faces elimination.

In a pair of lopsided games last night, the highly regarded Stockhams batted Festus out of the two-losses-and-out meet with a 15-5 victory behind Bob Groos' five-hit hurling, and Wellston was walloped by Cape, 17 to 9.

With Wellston having defeated Stockham Thursday, the same night Cape beat Festus, today's 3 p.m. (St. Louis time) means the winner will face Cape Girardeau at 7:30 tonight. Should Cape win that game, it would gain the zone title and move on in the state play-offs. A defeat for Cape, however, would require another game immediately following the 7:30 contest.

Despite its impressive victory, Stockham showed little of the attacking power it displayed during its league season. The St. Louis club got only eight hits, but these were helped along by walks and nine Festus errors.

After scoring twice in the first inning and twice in the second, Stockham piled up six more in the third as Mickey Mahon cleared the bases with triple. Groos drove in three runs with two hits and Jim Withrow had two safeties and walked three times.

Then Came the Storm.

In its game with Cape, Wellston held a 4-2 lead at one stage and trailed only by 8 to 6 after six innings. Then came the big stretch drive by Cape in the seventh. A seven-run splurge kayoed Emil Kammer, Wellston's starting pitcher, and Jack Peisker before Jim Henry came in to douse the fire.

Everyone in the Cape lineup shared in the 18-hit attack behind Pitcher Don Wilkening who fanned 13 while walking eight. Dave Grojean batted in five runs on four hits. Teammate Jim Minton included a double and triple among his four safeties.

For Wellston Norm Siebern, a .393 hitter during the regular season, got three safeties to go with three he collected against Stockham, and Jack Erwin and John Vitale had two apiece. Augie Abendschien of Wellston slammed the game's only home run.

Ponder Favored in Arlington; Arcaro to Pilot Cochise

CHICAGO, July 29 (UP)—Calumet Farm's Ponder was the standout favorite in a 12-horse field likely to start in the tweny-first running of the $75,000 added mile and a quarter Arlington Park Handicap today.

The fleet speedster of the Warren Wright stable was listed at 2 to 1, far better than the 4-1 markup for Brandywine Stable's Cochise and Walmac Farm's Volcanic, second choices to finish with the winners share of $47,800.

Ponder, winner of $158,750 this year with victories in four stake races, was assigned to carry the heaviest load of the race, 128 pounds. He will be ridden by Steve Brooks, Calumet's top contract rider.

Cochise, however, carrying 122 pounds, will be piloted by Eddie Arcaro, one of the nation's best jockeys who comes to Chicago especially for this race. Cochise has captured two major stakes this season, but has finished in the money in most of its starts.

Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, the only three-year-old in the event, Hasty House Farm's entry of Inseparable and Seaward, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Loser Weeper grouped as the third most likely winners at odds of 6 to 1.

Of this trio, Loser Weeper had the best record, boasting victories in five major stake races with winnings this year of $129,350.

Three of the field were late surprises in paying the $500 starting fee, J. Wolf's Lucky Codine, Hal Price Headley's Aegina and Oil Capitol.

Earlier Oil Capitol had been figured an unlikely entrant while Brandywine's Greek Song, winner of the $50,000 added Arlington Classic two weeks ago, was expected to be the only three-year-old in the event. However, Greek Song was not nominated to start.

Other horses in the field were King Ranch's entry of Better Self and Curandero and Eugene Constantin's Prop. All were held at 20 to 1.

Lucky Codine was assigned the lightest weight, 100 pounds, two less than the load set up for Aegina.

A crowd of approximately 30,000 was expected to attend.

Larry Doyle, Merkle, Old Giant Mates, Don't Recognize Each Other

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP) — Fred Merkle and Larry Doyle were second and first baseman, respectively, for some of the great New York Giant teams under John J. McGraw 40 years ago.

They met yesterday for the first time in 25 years. Neither recognized the other. They were reintroduced.

Snead's 131 Tops Sioux City Open

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 29 (AP) —Sammy Snead is running ahead of schedule in his bid for more top money along the professional golf circuit.

Slamming Sam figured it would take 267 to win the first prize $2600 in the 72-hole Sioux City Open. Naturally, he had his own plans to get that 267 or better. At the halfway mark toward his goal, Snead had used 131 strokes.

But he couldn't afford to falter because a few other guys were breathing right down his suntanned neck.

Snead clicked for a 66, six under par for the 6506-yard Elmwood course, in the second round yesterday. That figure, added to his opening 65, gave him a one-stroke lead over 22-year-old Paul O'Leary of Bismarck, N. D. O'Leary was on the board with 132 after two 66's.

Skip Alexander, first-round pacesetter with his course record 63, and Jack Burke Jr., were tied for the third spot with 133's. Skip, the affable southerner, dropped to a 70 and Burke had a 68 yesterday.

They had a stroke margin over Henry Ransom with his 134. None of the leaders had the low score of the second round. Lloyd Mangrum furnished that bit to the program with a 65. A missed four-foot putt on the eighteenth green cost him a 64. Mangrum's effort placed him at 136 along with Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle; Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., and Fred Hawknis, El Paso, Tex.

A field of 66 players, including nine amateurs, qualified for the final 36 holes.

The low amateur was Jack Webb of Spirit Lake, Ia., with 142. The non-professionals got in with 151 or beter. A pro was out of luck if he didn't have at least a 147 to show for his two days work.

Larsen Fights Off Match Point to Eliminate Golden

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 29 (UP)—Art Larsen of San Francisco fought off match point in the second set and barely escaped an upset defeat at the hands of young Grant Golden of Chicago yesterday as he gained the semi-finals of the Meadow Club Invitation tennis tournament, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Larsen, the nation's sixth ranking amateur and the second seeded player in the tourney, was forced to produce his best tennis to eliminate Golden, a stocky, red-haired 20-year-old who is virtually unknown in the East.

In the day's other quarter-final match, Dick Savitt, Cornell University star from Orange, N. J., easily defeated Dr. Arnold Beisser of Santa Ana, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.

Larsen was to meet Earl Cochell of Los Angeles in today's best-of-five sets semi-final and Savitt was to face Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.. Mulloy and Cochell advanced to the round-of-four Thursday.

Golden nearly won his match against Larsen in straight sets. After winning the first set with ease, the Chicagoan gained a 5-4 lead in the second set and was only one point away from winning the match in the tenth game.

At that point, however, Larsen hit a shot which struck the top of the net and trickled over into Golden's side of the court. Golden made a desparate lunge for the ball but fell flat on his face. Larsen then went on to win the game to even the set at 5-all and ran off the next two games for the set.

In the third set, Golden managed to even the score at 4-all, then tired. Larsen, calling on all his best shots, swept the next two games.

Quarter-Finals In Illinois Golf

MOLINE, Ill., July 29 (AP)—A couple of college kids held the spotlight as the Illinois state men's amateur golf tourney today moved into its quarter-final and semi-final rounds.

The 36-hole championship match will be played at Short Hills Country club tomorrow.

Although three former champions still are left in the eight-man quarter-final field, Dave Logan of the University of Illinois and Dean Lind from the University of Michigan provided the day's most interesting match.

Barrington's Logan moved up against Rockford's Lind after bumping off two former champions yesterday, Mike Stolarik of Waukegan, 1 up in 19 holes, and Jim Frisina Sr., Taylorville, 1 up. Stolarik won the title in 1943, while Frisina was champion in 1942 and 1947.

Lind, meet co-medalist with another quarter-finalist, Larry Moller of Quincy, scored a second-round triumph over one of the state's veteran amateurs, Johnny (Pick) Wagner, 2 and 1.

Moller, one of the three champions still in the running, today meets young Jack Coyle of Springfield in the quarter-finals. Moller, 42, who won the meet in 1934 and in 1937, disposed of Springfield's Johnny Kopatz and Dixon's highly-regarded Tommy Sullivan in his first two rounds. Coyle beat Elgin's Bob Thoren and Ottawa's Dante Vicini.

The two other ex-champions, Johnny Hobart of Moline, 1935 champion and Peoria's Gus Moreland, 1940 titlist, meet in a third quarter-final match, while the fourth match is between Ed Kletcke, a Chicago fireman, and Clem Jensen of Rockford.

Hobart scored a 1-up victory on the 19th green over George Victor of Glenview in yesterday's second round after Victor had upset defending champion Norando Nannini of Highwood, 3 and 1.

Robinson Weighs 151.

POMPTON LAKES, N. Y., July 29 (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who defends his world welterweight title against Charles Fusari in Jersey City on Aug. 9, boxed four rounds yesterday. After the drill he weighed 151 pounds. The welter limit is 147.

Wrestling Results.

George (Kayo) Koverly won from Cyclone Anaya in 13:34 with body press.

Jack Hader, 245 pounds, Kansas City, pinned Finice Hall, 225 pounds, East St. Louis, with a crab hold. Time—10m. 9s.

Tex Riley, 218 pounds, Houston, and Whitey Whittler, 220 pounds, Roxana, Ill., went to a 30-minute time limit draw.

Tag Team Match—Nick Carter, 227 pounds, Birmingham, Ala., and Ralph Garibaldi, 230 pounds, St. Louis, defeated Chris and Babe Zaharias, 235 pounds each, Pueblo, Colo., two falls out of three. First fall—Zaharias brothers disqualified, two men in ring. Time—8m. 8s. Second fall—Ralph Garibaldi pinned Babe Zaharias with a body press. Time —21m. 30s.

AMATEUR SPORTS PARADE

Four Records Fall in Ozark Swim Finals

Alan Rapperport, Jeri Wilcox and Sally Kent were the only double winners in the twelfth annual Ozark A.A.U. junior swimming meet at Chain of Rocks pool yesterday. Rapperport missed scoring a "triple" when Robinson Ord, Country Day athlete representing the Missouri Athletic Club, upset him in the 80-yard free-style event. It was Ord's first swimming race.

Miss Kent and Miss Wilcox were among the four record-breakers in the finals. Seven meet marks fell in the preliminaries.

Bob Beckerle's :31.9 in the 40-yard backstroke finals bettered his own mark of :32.6 in the prelims. In the same event for girls Miss Kent's :31.1 matched her new record made in the prelims.

In the 80-yard free-style Miss Wilcox's time was :57.2, or 3-10 of a second better than the record she tied in the prelims. A 10-year-old Shaw Park mark fell in the 160-yard relay when another Shaw Park team was timed in 1:27.7. Bill Hohengarten, Jim Barton, Mel Richter, and Jay Coffman bettered the old mark of 1:39.

The girls' trophy went to Shaw Park, coached for the first time by Dan Wheatcroft. The Y.M.H.A. and M.A.C. squads both won boys' trophies.

Ohio State Prof. Works 5 Hours Mending Broken Leg of Show Horse

CANTON, O., July 29 (AP)—An Ohio State University professor worked for five hours early yesterday to mend the broken leg of a show horse valued by its owner at $10,000.

For years a bullet in the head was the recognized treatment for a horse with a broken leg. Now, if the horse is worth the trouble, there's another way—the method Dr. Richard L. Rudy used on Sally.

Sally is a 14-year-old fine harness horse owned by Earl Ford. She and her offspring have won numerous ribbons and prizes. And she's expecting — has been for four months, leaving seven to go.

Sally collapsed at the barn door after dark last night, her right front leg broken by a kick from another horse.

Dr. Rudy used eight metal pins in the shattered bone and splinted it up while Sally was anesthetized. When she came to, she was suspended in a canvas sling on an all-metal frame. She'll be in it a month.

Afterward she won't be able to run as well, but Sally will get around a good many years.

Short Waves

BOBBY LOCKE, British Open champion, moved into a tie with KEN BOUSFIELD for the lead in the 90-hole North British tournament at Harrogate with 278 after 72 holes. . . . The fifth and final round was delayed a day because of rain. . . . Tulsa's Texas League Baseball Club optioned Pitcher JOHN BEBBER to Columbia of the South Atlantic League to make room for BUD LIVELY, en route from Cincinnati.

DICK FOWLER, Philadelphia Athletic pitcher with unusually good success against the Browns in past seasons, was headed for home, apparently lost to the Athletics for the season because of crippling bursitis pains. . . . He had won only one game this year.

JOE LOVAS, who played center on the Wabash College football team in every game the last four years, will be back at the school as assistant gridiron coach and head golf coach. . . . BOB KLINE, University of Kansas lineman, is a polio patient in a St. Joseph (Mo.) hospital.

FIRST WHIRL, claimed for $7000 last Tuesday, won the Middle Grove classified handicap of the Saratoga-at-Jamaica meeting under a good ride by BOBBY PERMANE. A payoff of $26.40 for $2 gave Permane two triumphs with outsiders, for he earlier had scored with MOSSIVE at $15.10 for $2.

Four-hitters by SPEC SHEA of Kansas City, HARVEY HADDIX of Columbus and MURRAY WALL of Milwaukee featured play in the American Association. . . . Shea stopped pace-setting Louisville, 4-2, while Haddix won from Minneapolis, 13-0. . . . Wall, however, was beaten 2-1 by Indianapolis, enabling the Indians to draw within half a game of the first-place Colonels.

GOV. ALFRED E. DRISCOLL of New Jersey signed a resolution providing for establishment of a national football shrine at New Brunswick, site of the first intercollegiate game ever played. . . . HOBIE LANDRITH, 20-year-old former Michigan State catcher, has been placed on Cincinnati's active roster.

Proximity Loses Heat, but Sets Money Winning Record

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—It took 73 years for one to come along, but today harness racing had a new world money-winning champion, the eight-year-old trotting mare Proximity which has earned $210,129.

Proximity's first and second in the two heats of the $15,000 Sportsman's Trot at Sportsman's Park last night netted her $5250 and moved the swift bay ahead of Goldsmith Maid's 1877 record of $206,462.

Driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandboye, Ont., Proximity needed only the $3750 winner's purse in the opening mile to beat Goldsmith Maid's record.

But the second heat was noteworthy in that Proximity was beaten for the first time in 14 heats this season, barring a disqualification for a break at Goshen, N. Y.

The horse that did it was Demon Hanover, 1948 Hambletonian winner and conqueror of Proximity in the $50,000 two-mile trot at Roosevelt Raceway, N. Y., last year.

Proximity, which collected $1500 for her second place effort, was leading the mile and a sixteenth closing heat until the head of the stretch. Then she broke stride momentarily and Demon Hanover, piloted by owner-driver Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn., flashed home three-quarters of a length to the good.

Demon Hanover's time was 2:11 2-5, two-fifths of a second off the mile and a sixteenth record for a half-mile track. Proximity's opening heat time for the mile was 2m. 05.2s. Both were new track marks.

Proximity, owned by Ralph and Gordon Verhurst of Victor, N.Y., did her previous cash-collecting this year in the $50,000 Golden West Trot, the $10,000 Arden and Chatham features at Saratoga, the $7500 Gold Cup at Buffalo, and the $10,000 Titan at Goshen, N. Y. The rest of her earnings came in free-for-alls at Santa Anita and Roosevelt Raceway.

17-Year-Old Sculler Gains His 3rd Title

PORT DALEHOUSIE, Ont., July 29 (AP)—Twenty-three years ago this week, Jack Guest, an iron-muscled six-footer, won the Royal Canadian Henley Association singles. Yesterday, from the grandstand overlooking the same course, he cheered like a school boy when his son, Jack Jr., duplicated the feat.

The race marked the third victory for the six-foot-four-inch young star in the 68th annual regatta, the only triple winner so far among the 600 entries from Canada and the United States. The best Jack senior could do in his regatta hey-day was the double—association and junior singles in 1927.

The 17-year-old, 195-pound sculler covered the one mile and 550-yard old Welland canal course in record-breaking time. He was clocked in seven minutes, 25 seconds—more than 21 seconds faster than the previous best of 7:46.2 set by Ken Nunn of Toronto Argonauts two years ago.

Nine finals were run off during the day and when the official point-total was reckoned, the defending club champion St. Catharines led the parade with 199, far in the van of the others. Buffalo Westsides took second spot with 93 points, followed by Toronto Argonauts with 72 and the Dons with 40½.

As was expected, Bobby Williams of Hamilton Leader, provided all the opposition for Guest. Helped along by a tail wind, they swept down the course bow to bow taking turns in the lead.

One hundred yards from home, Guest took the lead and held it, finishing about three-quarters of a length in front. They were trailed by Roc Cardwell of Buffalo Westsides, Jack Holzer also of Westsides and Ken Blue of Detroit Boat Club, in that order.

It was a big day for St. Catharines. They started with a winner in the junior 145-pound eights final and continued a sizzling pace, ending with four firsts, as many seconds and one third.

Mrs. Mertz Captures Weekly Golf Honors

Mrs. William Mertz of St. Clair was right at home at St. Clair Country Club and gained low net honors, with a 70, in the weekly round of the St. Louis Women's District Golf Association yesterday. Runner-up was Mrs. Ray Schwartz of Norwood Hills with 77.

Mrs. Frank W. Hoffman of Westborough had the fewest putts, 27, and Mrs. M. K. Bride of Rock Springs won the blind holes feature with 27, in the first flight.

In the second flight, Mrs. Pearl Obrock of Triple A and Mrs. E. F. Melling of Rock Springs tied for low net with 81. Runner-up was Mrs. William F. Drescher of Greenbriar with 82.

Fewest putts—Mrs. Ralph Scott of Westborough, 30.

Blind holes—Tie between Mrs. Nelson Wainwright of Greenbriar and Mrs. E. W. Kaiser of Triple A at 31.

Boyle Ill, Long Siege Could Hurt Truman

Mrs. India Edwards Has Support for His Post.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON, July 29.

DEMOCRATIC National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. is in Georgetown Hospital, undergoing tests which will determine whether he must have an intestinal operation.

Anxiety is felt about his condition. The tests are tending toward an operation. If it must be done, it could prove to be serious and entail a long illness.

The handsome, pink-cheeked chairman from Kansas City, Mo., who appeared to be health incarnate, began losing weight several months ago. He thought he was only tired, and he set in motion plans to strengthen the committee staff so he could delegate responsibility and get more rest. Apparently that rest was overdue.

It would be a severe blow to President Truman to lose the services of his national chairman in the midst of the Korean crisis, with an election pending which could switch control of Congress to the Republicans. Because of the war situation, too, difficult and delicate decisions about campaign strategy have to be made.

No obvious successor is in sight if Boyle must take his hand from the helm. No second men on the committee have the required combination of the President's personal confidence and wide acquaintance with the party leaders in the 48 states.

Fortunately, Mrs. India Edwards, committee vice chairman and head of the women's division, has that combination. Her relations with Boyle have been close and happy, so well so that she knows what his thinking is about party problems.

Insiders have realized that Mrs. Edwards has virtually been acting chairman during this period of waiting for the doctors to give Boyle his orders. Some say frankly that the best thing the President could do if Boyle must be long absent is to make Mrs. Edwards acting chairman.

This would indeed be precedent-breaking, but since the woman involved is Mrs. Edwards, the party wouldn't be too much surprised. Mrs. Edwards tempers her firm convictions with political realism and humor. She operates in such a manner that men leave a party conference confiding to one another that she thinks like a man. To women, of course, this means merely that the men think the woman in question is smart. But to have that reputation doesn't hurt a woman in a competitive field.

If it were not for his heavy duties imposed by the war, the President, a thorough politician who enjoys his trade, could fill in nicely. Undoubtedly he would such is his reluctance to change. But right now, with the campaign coming up, he simply has not time to fill the vacuum at headquarters. And it is becoming apparent.

Luckily for the Democrats, the Senate and House campaign committees have unusually able chairmen, Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico and Representative Michael J. Kirwan, who can carry on. Anderson, the President's first Secretary of Agriculture, was at one time the White House selection for national chairman.

But after the White House had greased the wheels, party leaders—especially from the city machines — threw in a roadblock. They firmly reminded the President that the national chairman was traditionally an Irish Catholic; in fact, none other has held the job since the New Deal began. Anderson ran for the Senate and Truman turned to the then-Senator J. Howard McGrath, whom he knew only slightly.

Senators are saying that no Senator now could leave his desk to fill in for Boyle, though McGrath kept both jobs.

Boyle is a popular and successful chairman who has been especially adept with the party's labor allies. Organization is his fetish, and it is harder on him than anyone that he should be laid low when so much vital planning needs to be done.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Free Bus Ride to Church.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — "I'm going to church" is all a person here has to say to get a free ride on a city bus Sunday morning. Then he says, "I have been to church," and gets a freed ride home.

It's a good-will gesture to the community, said Wiley Moore, bus company president. If anyone cheats it will be on his conscience and may get him to church anyway, Moore added.

Cupid Takes the Count.

BALTIMORE—Uncle Sam beat Cupid to the punch.

A young chap paid $1 to apply for a marriage license. While waiting for the required 48 hours to pass before getting the license he visited his draft board. "Get ready for induction," he was told. Back he went to the marriage bureau.

"Just no point in getting the license now, so I'd like the dollar back," he said.

Punctures by Wholesale.

ADRIAN, Mich.—Motorists had plenty of headaches when a keg of nails fell off a freight truck and broke open on a highway.

Police went to the scene after a garage reported it was swamped with requests to fix punctured tires. Eighteen automobiles were parked along a half mile of highway, some with holes in all four tires.

Garage attendants went to work with tire patches and police got busy with brooms and dust pans to pick up the nails.

RUSSIA BELIEVED LIKELY TO ASK U.N. TO ORDER CEASE-FIRE IN KOREA

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 29 (UP).

RUSSIA probably will propose upon its return to the Security Council next week that the United Nations order an immediate cease-fire in Korea with troops of both sides holding their current positions, informed sources believed today.

Then once the hostilities have ceased, the Russians will propose the Securtiy Council attempt to mediate between North and South Korea. The Russians will stipulate, however, that Communist China must be represented in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, observers believed.

Such a proposal was almost certain to bring a quick rejection by the Western powers.

2 SENATORS CALL ON U.S. TO BLOCK CHINESE REDS

Foreign observers see the Soviet decision to return to the Council as a reaffirmation of Russia's belief that the Council should be reconstituted with the full participation of Moscow and Peiping.

Only then, the Russians have contended, can the Council legally consider any move to settle the Korean problem. They consider U.N. decisions calling on member states to help drive the North Koreans back across the 38th parallel as illegal because not all permanent members were present when the votes were taken.

Not Leaving U.N. Altogether.

The Soviet press has made it clear that there is no ground for speculation that the Russians intend to leave the U.N. altogether, however. Throughout the Korean war and earlier Soviet authorities and the Russian press consistently have asserted their fidelity to the principles of the U.N. and have insisted on strict adherence to the U.N. charter, as they interpreted it.

They have charged that the United States and Britain are violating the charter in sending military help to the South Koreans.

Strong attacks in the Literary Gazette and other Soviet newspapers have been directed against Secretary-General Trygve Lie and other specific persons rather than U.N. institutions.

Moreover, the newspapers every now and then have reminded their readers of Premier Joseph Stalin's 1946 characterization of the U.N. as an effective instrument for peace.

U.N. Delegates Speculate On New Red Peace Offensive.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 29 (AP)—U.N. delegates speculated today the return of the Soviet Union to the Security Council next Tuesday may signal the start of another Russian peace offensive.

One high delegate said the so-called Stockholm peace petition campaign by the Soviet Union has failed and the Russians must try something else.

Another envoy, who has a background of four years' service in Moscow, said he believed Soviet military leaders figure the Communists may win the Korean war soon and that the Kremlin had decided to step back to the council and demand peace at that stage.

It was noted widely the announcement of Russia's decision yesterday came about the time the North Koreans launched a major offensive in a tremendous effort to drive the Americans and other U.N. forces off the Korean peninsula.

Regardless of what the Soviet Union does, the Security Council's president for July, Arne Sunde of Norway, said flatly, "We will not allow anyone to sabotage the work of the council."

ALTON SOLDIER WOUNDED IN FIGHTING IN KOREA

Pvt. Thomas M. Lavender, Negro, son of Mrs. Stella Lavender, 1331 Taylor street, Alton, has been wounded in combat in Korea, his mother was informed by the Army yesterday.

The telegram said Lavender, 19 years old, had been removed to a base hospital in Japan.

A former student at Alton Senior High School, he entered service seven months ago and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. A brother, Delean Lavender, enlisted in the Army two months ago and is at Fort Knox.

GEN. ODRIA IS INAUGURATED AS PRESIDENT OF PERU

LIMA, July 29 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Manuel Odria was inaugurated as president of Peru yesterday.

Odria, elected without opposition for a six-year term on July 2, took over from Brig. Gen. Zenon Noriega, president of the military junta which has governed Peru since the ousting of President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero in October 1948.

Odria led the army revolt which toppled Bustamante's regime.

2 MEN IN THEIR 80S WANT TO JOIN ARMY TO FIGHT IN KOREA

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The White House yesterday reported receiving letters from two Philadelphians, one 85 years old, the other 84, wanting to join the Army for the war in Korea.

Samuel Barsumian, 85, a native of Turkey and a long-time resident of Armenia, wrote in Armeno-Turkish: "My eyesight is good, my arms and legs are strong. My blood is clear. My internal organs are sound. My entire body is without fault. . . . Yes, I want to be a soldier. I beg to accept me."

The other letter came from Samuel Deemer Gilpin, 84, an old-time Indian fighter. It said: "I'm a former regular Army man in Company A, Thirteenth Infantry and an Indian War veteran of the Geronimo Indian Campaign, Southwest, ended in September 1886 in New Mexico territory in Arizona. My object in writing you, dear Mr. Truman, is to achieve induction into the armed forces again."

The White House said that President Truman has not replied to the two offers but undoubtedly will express his thanks.

DARST SAYS MORE U.S. ORDERS WILL INCREASE HOUSING NEED

Enlargement of Government orders for St. Louis industrial products because of the Korean crisis will bring additional workers here and make the local housing shortage more serious, Mayor Joseph M. Darst said yesterday.

The Mayor said that he would leave late next week for Washington to stress the necessity for approval of housing construction projects in the city. Privately financed urban re-development projects as well as governmental-subsidized low rental housing will be discussed by the Mayor with officials of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Administration.

The Mayor who is planning a vacation trip through the East said he would stop over at Washington to discuss housing matters. He recently received assurance that Government grants for planning urban re-development would not be withheld because of the Korean situation.

WARTIME RENT CONTROLS LIFTED BY LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, July 29 (AP)—Wartime ceilings on Los Angeles's 350,000 rental units have been lifted.

The city council voted decontrol yesterday, 10 to 4, in a stormy meeting. The decontrol measure now goes to the Housing Expediter in Washington, who has no alternative but to approve it within 10 days.

Bite Out of Train Schedule.

GREAT BEND, Kan., July 29 (AP) — Engineer A. J. Berg's false teeth disrupted the trip of his train on the Jetmore branch of the Santa Fe Railroad. The teeth fell out as Berg leaned from the cab window. He backed up the train for half a mile and found them intact.

STOCKS END UP AFTER TAX, CONTROL JITTERS

NEW YORK, July 29 (UP)—Stocks closed higher this week after a series of irregular movements. Railroad shares made a new high in their average since Nov. 1, 1948. Utilities made a new low for the year. The composite average of rails, utilities and industrials gained 30 cents on the week. Utilities lost 66 cents. Industrials gained 56 cents. Rails, the best performers, were up $1.25. (Dow-Jones averages.)

The small net changes reflect a drop in prices early in the week when the market was influenced by uncertainties of taxes, the war and Government controls.

Profit Taking in Rails.

These worries were dissipated later when the Administration's tax proposals proved less than had been feared and when President Truman said he would not seek price controls and rationing at this time.

Railroad issues met some profit-taking late in the week, but this was easily absorbed. Leading industrials turned strong on Friday. The utilities came back slightly from their lows.

Volume in the market was just about the same a week ago. The daily average of 2,375,141 shares compared with an average of 2,348,842 shares last week, a week of sharply rising prices.

Highly favorable earnings reports by big corporations helped sentiment late in the week. General Motors had an all-time record high first half. United States Steel had a record, too. Bethlehem had record production for the second quarter. Chrysler made a good showing despite its 100-day strike.

Industrials in Comeback.

These reports helped the industrials make a good comeback. Allied Chemical rose four points on Friday and wiped out all the losses suffered earlier in the week. Bethlehem gained a point on the week and United States Steel nearly a point.

Department store shares met demand as sales for these stores soared on buying in anticipation of war controls. Televisions rallied. Oils met good demand and closed higher on the week. Railroads netted gain ranging to more than five points in Union Pacific. Building stocks improved.

Such commodity stocks as rubber and coal enjoyed a good market at times. Tobaccos lost moderately on the week.

NO SATURDAY STOCK TRADING

The New York Stock and Curb Exchanges and Midwest Stock Exchange were closed Saturday. No sessions will be held on Saturday during July, August and September.

The New York Cotton Exchange also was closed.

GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES IN DOWNTURN

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Buyers were mighty scarce in the grain pits today, taking offerings only at price concessions. The result was a persistent decline for all cereals despite the fact that selling never became very heavy.

Soybeans and new crop corn, easy from the start, wound up with the largest percentage losses. Export circles heard that Manchuria had sold a considerable quantity of soybeans and corn to Great Britain and Holland. It was estimated that between 15 and 20 cargoes of corn were sold.

There was no estimate available on how much soybeans the Communist-controlled country had marketed. However, according to trade circles, Manchuria was offering between 50,000 and 100,000 tons. That country's price for both beans and corn was said to be under that of the United States.

Wheat early was ⅛@¾c lower, September $2.27, corn was unchanged to ⅝c lower, September $1.52⅜, oats were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, September 77¾c, soybeans were 1c to 2½c lower, November $2.62½, and lard was 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $15.37.

There were a number of reasons for the absence of buying orders. One was the simple fact that few traders wanted to take a positive position in the market over the weekend. Other reasons were:

First, a flock of peace rumors, all based on a false report, which flooded brokerage house wires after the market closed yesterday. Even though the rumors were without foundation they undoubtedly restricted speculative buying of cereals, traders said.

Second, the fact that the Senate Banking Committee will vote Monday on a proposal that the President receive standby price, wage and rationing controls. This is a plan submitted by Bernard Baruch and Washington dispatches said it had considerable support in Congress despite presidential opposition.

Country Life

The Problems of a Vegetable Garden

By Leonard Hall

THIS year we were sure we had solved the problem of carrying our vegetable garden through the drouth which seems almost inevitable during our Missouri summers. Out on the east side of the house, underneath the flagstone terrace, is the old cistern which once supplied all the water for the farm household. Since we now depend upon our deep well for water, the cistern is not in use and stays full the year round. So we rigged a shallow-well pump on the cistern platform, ran a long hose out to the garden, attached a sprinkler and turned on the electric motor. It worked like a charm and the garden, which was suffering badly from lack of moisture, perked up amazingly.

Not long afterward we had one of our rare showers; but then things dried up again and we went back to pumping. Corn, tomatoes, beets and all the rest once more took a new lease on life. But on the next round of watering, the pump stopped pumping. And we found, to our dismay, that we'd pumped the cistern dry. Now we're waiting for a real rain to fill the cistern again; although if we get one which will accomplish this, the garden will probably survive the rest of the summer without more emergency watering. The real problem, we feel, is created by the fact that we still haven't built up enough of a humus supply in this soil, and this points up one of the disadvantages of vegetable gardening in a spot which had been used for this purpose for perhaps a hundred years. We grow rye in the winter and plow under heavy applications of barnyard manure and make liberal use of fertilizer. Now we think the answer lies in still heavier applications of organic matter with at least part of this being worked in through the whole depth of the topsoil instead of all being plowed under.

★ ★ ★

OUR WORST GARDEN PESTS this season are two families of groundhogs which have taken up residence nearby; one in the big brush pile we've left for the birds outside the fence and the other down in the old barnlot. These pesky creatures keep the string beans mowed off just about six inches above the ground, so that they bloom continuously but hardly have a chance to set on a crop of beans. They seem to prefer sweet corn when it is within a day of being ready for picking and they mow off the lettuce at ground level. Tomatoes are another weakness, though with these they seem to be satisfied with a single bite which ruins the tomato effectively as if they'd eaten it all. Once they're filled up, they sit beside their burrows and whistle at old Mike, diving to safety when he comes charging out at them. So despite the fact that they are harmless little fellows and quite entertaining, we're either going to have to take measures against them or give up vegetable gardening.

★ ★ ★

THE QUAIL WHICH SPEND much of their time in the garden are quite another matter. In the first place, they probably come there hunting bugs instead of vegetables, and their cheery whistling is always a pleasure to hear. Often I answer them and then we watch them come slipping out into the yard, searching here and there for the Bob-white that called them and talking softly all the time. And when I called from the window of the upstairs study, they are doubly puzzled, cocking a bright eye upward to see whether a quail may possibly be perched on the roof. Finally, seeming to shake their heads in wonder at such goings-on, they retreat again to the garden.

We've still another visitor about which Ginnie is not quite so well pleased. This is a handsome snake perhaps two feet long, black with small white spots, which has taken up residence under the front porch. Although I don't find it pictured in any of the books, it probably belongs to the garter snake family and since it is large enough to eat useful toads, frogs and earthworms, could hardly be classed as a farmer's friend. The truth is, this has been an unusually good summer for snakes and we've seen and destroyed more than the ordinary number of copperheads. The largest of these we found in the pile of firewood which we keep at the picnic spot by the big pond. Fortunately, the light, hazel-brown color and hourglass markings make this fellow easy to identify, provided one sees it. Like its close relative, the cottonmouth of the swamp country, the copperhead is not considered as deadly as the rattlers or the poisonous snakes of the American tropics; yet it is one to be avoided and destroyed when encountered.

★ ★ ★

I SUPPOSE THAT THE WORST pest of our Missouri summers is the chigger. They seem to be worse at some times and some places than at others, although if there is any spot better for getting a crop than the blackberry patch, we don't know where it is. There also seems a great difference in the susceptibility of different people to the attack of this irritating little mite, so that one person will harvest a hundred bites where another will get only one or two. This may, in fact, be a matter of developing an immunity as the season goes forward. Actually, it is not difficult to ward off the annoying attack of the chigger, if one is willing to take the pains to do so. Ordinary flowers of sulphur dusted on the body with a bit of cotton, with special care to cover the lower legs and ankles and the area around ones waist, is almost always effective. There are also a number of good preparations on the market today which are effective. As youngsters, I can remember that we kept a quantity of the regular photographic developing solution, hyposulphate, mixed up and simply sponged with this when we got up in the morning. When we did this, as far as I can remember, we got no chiggers. Fairly often we neglected it, however, and in such cases always paid the penalty. Once a crop of chiggers has been acquired, the best treatment is not to scratch them, in which case they are soon gone. Few people seem able to apply this remedy, however, and so there are a hundred panaceas ranging from nail polish (to paint over the bite) to laundry soap.

U.S. Nurses Go Ashore in South Korea

United States Army nurses, along with medical personnel, head for the shore somewhere in South Korea after being transferred from a transport to a small harbor craft. They moved promptly to advance posts or hospital centers for care of battle casualties. American and South Korean forces were engaged in crucial fighting today against Red drives aimed at the approaches to Pusan, key supply port. Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, American Eighth Army commander, visited the front to rally the defenders. —International News Photo.

CAMPAIGNING FOR CHARTER Using a 1914 model automobile and a 1950 streamlined car for contrast, League of Women Voters campaigners carried their drive in behalf of the proposed new city charter to Hampton Village Market yesterday, after a downtown parade. Occupants of the two machines wear costumes appropriate to each year. Standing between the cars are (from left): Mrs. Richard Hoffman, chairman of the league's campaign committee; Miss Nancy Murphy, and Mrs. Conrad Sommer, league president. —By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

BETTE DAVIS WED FOURTH TIME

Actress Bette Davis poses with her fourth husband, actor Gary Merrill, after their marriage in a civil ceremony at Juarez, Mexico, yesterday. The marriage was the fourth for the actress, who obtained a Mexican divorce from William Grant Sherry July 3. She gave her age as 41. Merrill, 38, was divorced two days ago in Los Angeles by his stage-actress wife, Barbara, and he was granted a divorce in Juarez yesterday. The California divorce does not become final for a year. The newlyweds left for New England on their honeymoon. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

HOW can I get my daughter-in-law to call me "Mom" and my husband "Pop" or "Dad"? She doesn't call us anything. The other day she answered the phone and when I asked if it were for me she said "No, it's for him" and pointed to my husband. This way she has of doing hurts us very much, as the in-laws of all our friends call them "Mom" and "Dad" as their own children do. I don't like to speak to my son about this, for fear of making trouble. I love his wife and would like for things to be different. I want to feel she loves us too. What can I do about this?

FAITHFUL READER.

I'll admit being addressed in any civil way rather than being called "Hey you," or merely pointed at, would be an improvement. Perhaps your son's wife is at a loss as to what to call you, and is becoming really self-conscious about the matter. Why not help her along by saying off-hand "How about calling Dad and me "Mom" and "Pops," since you are part of the family now. If that doesn't meet with response don't make an issue of it. A name for you will come along in time, if only "Granny" and "Grand-dad" when the babies come.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 14 AND HAVE finished grade school. There is a certain boy in our neighborhood who is four years my senior. He asked Mother to let him take me to church and to the show and she wouldn't let him though she thinks he is a nice boy. Then she changed her mind and said I could go with him if he asked me, but by then he had got tired of being refused and hasn't asked me any more. She said if I ran into him in town and he asked me I could go. I haven't happened to run into him, but don't you think it would be better if he came to my house for me? How can I get him to ask me again? WORRIED.

If this boy doesn't ask you again another one will, though at the moment you may doubt this seriously. Yes, you are quite right. A boy should go to a girl's house for her, and not just be meeting her here and there to go places. As to how to get this boy to ask you again, just be your own sweet, natural self when you chance to meet him anywhere, and he may ask you. If he doesn't, don't weep over it. There are plenty of other boys who will in time.

Five Types of Men

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

RITA, you want to know whether I think Albert really loves you. I don't know Albert. But some men are incapable of loving you, and you can decide for yourself whether he falls into one of these five groups. Think them over:

1. The man who is in love with himself. There is no room in his love life for anyone else. All love must come toward him—he has nothing to send outward to you. I remember a man in his early thirties who wrote me a long letter telling me of his desire to marry. He ended it theatrically by exclaiming, "My life is empty. I want someone to love me!" I had to reply that if he ever reached the point of wanting to love someone, and could prove that he was emotionally capable of doing so, I might help him; but I was not interested in helping him find a girl whose only function in life would be to admire him.

★ ★ ★

2. THE MAN who is in love with his mother. Of course every normal man loves his mother; every normal woman loves hers. But I mean the boy (he may be 50 years old, as far as that goes, but he's still emotionally a boy) whose world is bounded on all sides by his mother. She may even be dead, but he'll be true to her memory. I remember a man who came to complain because his bride had left him. She found that he was tied to Mom's apron strings. He was bewildered. "Genevieve is a lovely girl," he protested. "She's intelligent, she's sensitive—can't she understand that no woman can come between a man and his own mother?" No she couldn't and neither can I.

★ ★ ★

3. THE MAN WHOSE idea of love is merely conquest and exploitation. He's a winner! Unfortunately, he isn't a keeper. You want a man who will take you "to have and to hold"—not merely to conquer and then discard as he rushes on to some new conquest that helps him forget, for the moment, his deep-seated fear that he is a failure.

4. The man who is afraid of love. He may attract you because he is gentle, considerate, respectful—because he is so different from some of the wolves that have attempted to prey on you in the past. If you married him, you might find that you were expected to be more of a sister than a wife.

5. The man who merely wants attention. He is an emotional invalid, primarily seeking a nurse, not a wife.

If Albert falls in any one of those classifications, you can be a sister to him, Rita, if you like—but not a wife. To get the other side of the picture, to identify the man who is capable of loving you, write me in care of this newspaper (enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please) and ask for a free copy of my rating scale called "Are You SURE It's Love?" Score him on that, Rita, and you'll have his number.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

THE following letter describes a twofold problem: "A young married couple with a small child have moved in the apartment just over ours. They are good friends and we were delighted with their moving into the house but now we have an unbearable problem on our hands, or rather over our heads! Their child is making so much noise that we can't enjoy a restful waking hour in our apartment. To make matters worse, my husband has very exacting work and is not well. I have several times spoken of his need for rest but to no avail. I feel sure to go further would break up our friendship, unless you can come to the rescue with a possible solution."

Between breaking up your friendship with your upstairs neighbors and ruining your husband's health, it seems to me first consideration is due your husband.

DEAR MRS. POST: My husband and I have been invited to a wedding. My sixteen-year-old son received a separate invitation. (1) May the two be answered in one reply and (2) may one wedding present from the three of us be sent instead of a separate one from him?

Answer: Yes, to both questions.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

WEST'S tactics on defense in the following deal were not well calculated to bring him profit or glory!

South, dealer
Both sides vulnerable

	♠K64 ♥953 ♦AJ1084 ♣82
♠1072 ♥KJ1084 ♦K63 ♣54	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠A853 ♥6 ♦Q75 ♣K10973
	♠QJ9 ♥AQ72 ♦92 ♣AQJ6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
2N.T.	Pass	3N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Most experts, holding South's cards, would simply bid one heart over North's one diamond, but the actual South's rebid of two no-trump turned out to be excellent. For one thing, West opened the heart jack; for another—but we'll come to that later.

After winning the first trick with the heart queen, South led the diamond nine, and West, without giving the matter a second thought, played low. Declarer overtook the nine with the ten in dummy, and poor East was fixed, no matter what he did. If he took his queen then and there, declarer could run the entire diamond suit on a second finesse; and when East actually made the good play of ducking, South had gained an entry to dummy that he sorely needed. He finessed in clubs and won with the queen, then laid down the queen of spades. East held up his ace, but when the spade nine was led to the king, he won the trick and exited with a spade.

Declarer, having won his second spade trick, then led directly to the diamond ace and took another club finesse. This gave him three club tricks, two spades, two hearts and two diamonds.

Now observe the difference it would have made if West had correctly put up his diamond king on the first lead of that suit! Whatever declarer did, he could win only one diamond trick, and moreover, he would be deprived of the extra entry to dummy for club leads.

West said that the spade king had looked like a sure entry to dummy, in view of the bidding, but that impression, whether right or wrong, should have had no effect on West's proper diamond play.

Make Iced Coffee Strong

By Edith Barber

COFFEE!—everyone likes it hot for breakfast and there are those who like it in this form at other meals even in the hottest weather. There are others who feel that nothing is more cooling or refreshing than iced coffee at lunch or dinner.

There is a trick to making good iced coffee. The secret is to use only half as much water as you do for the hot beverage. Fill the basket of your drip pot or percolator with coffee to the usual point, but halve the water. Then you will have a strong brew to pour over the ice which, as it melts, will dilute the beverage to the proper point. Do not attempt to pack the basket with too much coffee as this will prevent the distribution of the water and you will actually have a weaker rather than a stronger beverage. Tall glasses should be filled with ice cubes and the freshly brewed coffee poured over these. More ice can be added or a bowl of ice cubes can be passed at the table. The sugar and cream should both be passed at the table. As a special treat, you may like to have a bowl or whipped cream instead of, or in addition to, the plain cream.

You may like to reserve the services of iced coffee for dessert time and let it accompany a sweet bread or a cake. Any quick bread flavored with fruit juice or with nuts is good, or a plain cake hot out of the oven, possibly made from a mix, is as suitable.

Orange Bread.

Three cups sifted flour, four and one-half teaspoons baking powder, three-fourth teaspoons salt, one-third cup shortening, one cup light brown sugar, firmly packed, one egg, slightly beaten, one-half cup grated orange rind, one cup orange juice.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening. Add sugar and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg and mix well. Add orange rind and juice. Add dry ingredients. Mix just enough to moisten. Bake in a greased loaf pan, 9½x5½ in moderate oven (350° F.) about 1 hour.

Quick Dessert Cake.

Use a white cake mix, according to directions on the package. Pour into greased baking pan and sprinkle liberally with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Bake according to directions on the package and serve hot from pan.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

CONECTICUT.

I WAS fortunate in Nantucket in having really beautiful weather. Tuesday, my one full day there, was a busy one. Mr. Morgenthau took me from where we were staying, at the end of the island, to the main street of Nantucket. We parked the car and walked down to look at the houses which photographers and painters have made so familiar to us. It is a charming place. I particularly enjoyed the short time spent with a summer theatre group which is playing its first season there.

They are trying rather an original idea on stage settings, making their settings moveable, and seating the audience wherever the play is not going on. They can seat only about 100 people, so it is really an intimate performance, but the actors are all competent people, having been on the stage for 10 or 12 years. I wish I could have seen a real performance.

We visited the whaling museum, where many of the exhibits were familiar, but I saw for the first time the models of "the camels" which were used up to 1854 to float the loaded ships over the bar. It was an ingenious device, but finally condemned because it was too expensive, and it became easier and less expensive to load in New Bedford, taking their produce over there in boats that could cross the bar of Nantucket harbor.

I always marvel at the skill of the sailors in the carving which they did during the long voyages in those days. My husband showed me in the old house in Fair Haven, Massachusetts, where his mother's grandfather had lived, examples of much of the work exhibited in the various whaling museums. It is often hard to realize that such delicate carvings could be done by men whose hands must have been accustomed to such rough work, for the sailing ships of those days required not only skill but strength and endurance from the sailors on the long trips which often took them practically around the world. It enabled them, however, to devote many hours to these minute and exquisite carvings.

We spent a delightful evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lytel Hull. They have planned their house so as to take in all the beauty of the sunsets over the water.

On Wednesday I went to Martha's vineyard. Mrs. Joseph Lash and her small son, Jonathan showed me the beauties of the island. We had a delightful lunch outside with Dr. and Mrs. David M. Levy. I sat on their porch for a little while with Katharine Cornell, Miss Macy and several other interesting and charming women.

The rivalry between these two islands seems fairly vigrous, so I will only say that I found both of them delightful. I enjoyed my two days immensely, and was particularly glad to find Mr. Morgenthau so much better than when I last saw him before my trip to Europe.

Even on islands like these which give you a "far away from the world feeling," you find that no one is quite free from the weight of world affairs. In spite of General Douglas MacArthur's reassuring words, I doubt if any one is very happy over our daily bulletins from Korea.
